WE NOMINATE

William Gordon Bowen, a rising star in the field of labor economics, a gifted teacher, and Director of Graduate Studies in Princeton University's expanding Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, who this week has been singled out by the Princeton Jaycees as the 1966 recipient of their Distinguished Service Award. Each year the community's energetic "Junior Chamber of Commerce" canvasses Princeton and its environs, soliciting organizations and individuals for nominations for "outstanding achievement" in a wide variety of occupational categories — with the proviso that all nominees must fall in the 21-35 age bracket.

A "veteran academic" at 32, the Ohio-born Bowen for the past two years has played a key role in the planning and development of the Wilson School, an expansion and re-organization made possible by the establishment in 1961 of the anonymous "X" Foundation with assets of some $35,000,000. The basic objectives, as Bowen and his associates have frequently emphasized, are to raise professional education for the public service to levels of excellence comparable to the country's ranking schools of medicine and law and, in an unparalleled professional school, to augment the flow of well-prepared people into positions of public responsibility.

Bowen, a Faculty Associate in the Industrial Relations Section, of which he was Acting Director in 1962-63, is a prolific and facile writer whose principal publications have caught the eye of the press. Several years ago his "Wage Behavior in the Postwar Period," a survey of U.S. wages back to 1900, deflated "some widely prevalent notions" and gained major billing in financial columns across the country. For instance, his documented findings, contrary to the yelps of businessmen and the claims of labor leaders, clearly indicated that the strength of modern unions has made little difference in the recession resistance of wage rates.

This past fall, as co-editor with Frederick H. Harbison of the far-ranging "Unemployment in a Prosperous Economy," Bowen and others helped focus public attention on unemployment in the United States as an economic and social problem of such magnitude that it deserves action as well as study. In the next academic year, on leave from the Wilson School, Bowen, in collaboration with fellow scholar-teachers, will be carrying forward two highly significant volume-length studies, "The Economics of the Performing Arts" (with William Jack Baumol) and "The Economics of Labor Force Participation" (with Thomas A. Finegan).

The youthful-appearing Bowen, the father of two, whose year of study on the effects of the University's involvements with the Federal Government resulted in the penetrating, privately circulated volume, "The Federal Government and Princeton University," whirled through Denison University with Phi Beta Kappa honors in 1955 and received his doctoral degree here three years later. Appointed to the University Faculty in 1958, he was promoted to associate professor in 1961 and was named Professor of Economics and Public Affairs in 1965 at age 31 — a remarkable upward leap in the 1960's for a social scientist!

For demonstrating through his accomplishments the interaction between research and effective teaching; for not hesitating to warn his student listeners that "more nonsense is written about economics than about any other academic subject"; for meriting one of the community's highest honors; he is our nominee as

SCHOOL SITE CHOSEN

But Merger Talks Lie Ahead.

The Township School Board announced on Thursday the location of its high school site.

But members of Township and Borough Boards are scheduled to meet this Wednesday for a discussion of William Miller's plan for a working liaison between the two systems, and George Grace, president of the Township Board, believes that a date to discuss "genuine merger" may be set in two or three weeks.

Mr. Grace was re-elected president at the Board's brief re-organization meeting Thursday. Mrs. George Fremon was elected vice-president, succeeding Mrs. Jess Epstein whose term of office on the board has expired. New Board member Herbert Bailey sat with his colleagues for the first time.

The Township Board, after narrowing a list of ten sites down to two, has decided on a plot of 42-45 acres at the intersection of Cherry Hill and Red Hill Roads, with the frontage along Cherry Hill. (See map, above).

The land, across from the Unitarian Church on the southwest and from the Harrop "Open Space" land on the west, is near the geographic center of the Township, easy to reach on foot for many high-school residents. It is the property of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Foulet.

Merger or No? Whether the selection of a site means a new Township High or merger, is a question held in the balance.

At the meeting Thursday night, the Board unanimously adopted a statement repeating its "continuing major concern to implement its educational philosophy and objectives through the full 12-year program of a child's formal public school experience."

Then the Board invited the Borough Board to meet with it and discuss "all aspects of our future relationships, including any possible merger," and urged the Township's own Citizens' Advisory Committee on a Township High School to proceed "energetically" with its study so that it can produce a report this spring.

In their formal statement, Board members said they would make a final decision about the best way to implement a K-12 school system after they reviewed the Citizens' Committee report "with the help and support of a public expression of opinion."

Rocky Road Ahead. Acquiring land for the new high school, if merger falls through again, will not be simple. Mr. and Mrs. Foulet, owners of the land, are not in the least interested in selling it and the school board would have to institute condemnation proceedings to acquire the site.

The property as a whole is so large that, even if the Township took what it needed, the Foulets would still have the house and about 18 acres. Mangrove Road would be extended and elbowed west so that the Foulets and the school would have an exit onto Cherry Hill.

State requirements for a high school call for 30 acres plus one acre for each 100 students, so that a 1,200-student high school would need at least 42 acres. The Township Board would probably prefer 45, for growth.

The school board's site committee, the Township engineer, the Planning Board and the Open Space Committee are all in agreement about the site. Access roads, athletic fields and parking have all been plotted.

letic director for the Township schools, went over the land with the site committee to make sure that the ground is level enough for playing fields. The site is convenient to sewers, water, gas, electricity and so on.

The next step will be the announcement of a five-member architecture committee with an architect as chairman. Mr. Grace said at Thursday's meeting that he hopes the architect can be named immediately.

In reply, Mr. Grace, for the board, has resolved to a resolution by Township Committee. In a measured letter, read at Thursday's meeting, Mr. Grace assured Committee that the Township Board, "motivated solely by the desire to serve the best educational interests of our children, has been and is, carefully studying the several alternatives facing the Township school system."

The letter expresses the hope that Committee, seeking the same goal, will support whatever the Board recommends.

Township Committee had been criticized for that resolution, in which it urged the Board to "demonstrate its past commitment to a merged school district."

William L. Wilson, Committeeman and former president of the Township school board, commented on Mr. Grace's letter of reply Monday night at the Township Committee meeting.

"Speaking for myself," he said, "I hold the ideal of a complete municipal merger. A separation of the two school systems would be an irrevocable step away from merger. I was concerned with this — not trying to invade the educational prerogatives of the Board of Education."

"THE CRUCIAL CHOICES"

Pastor Discusses Viet Nam. The involvement of Princeton clergy in the Viet Nam issue reached a new phase on Sunday when the Rev. Robert R. Spears Jr. of Trinity Episcopal Church called upon his congregation for individual commitment and action.

(Previously, in December, the Pastors' Association made known its endorsement of the peace call of the National Council of Churches by republishing the full statement in Town Topics.)

"It may well be that before Lent ends on Easter Day, April 16," the Rev. Mr. Spears told his congregation, "that the guiding principles of national policy will be adopted.

"If these principles include a greatly increased unilateral action involving more and more military solutions, a continued build-up of the national psychology of fear and hatred and a refusal to bear the painful burden of patient restraint and calm pursuit of diplomatic solution, it will mean that, once again, our leaders have confirmed that we Americans still put more trust in force than we do in faith.

"Then, if at the end of Lent we are still exercising national restraint about enlarging actual warfare, if we are pressing through the United Nations and every other available channel for multi-national peace-making, if we are resisting the impulse to hate, hysteria and fear, and if we are still pledging and delivering massive aid as a way of dealing with ignorance poverty and need, it may be because those who have deep conviction as Christians have made their views and committment known in the scales of decision."

He noted the "increasingly acrimonious debate over Viet Nam policy" in this country as well as in China and Russia, "fed by fact and by fear, exposing truth and lie alike, and leading to the decisions which must be made by the leaders of the nations tomorrow.

"As Christian churchmen, as followers of Jesus Christ, you have something to say in this debate. Your position is not greatly different from His as he struggled in the wilderness to make His choice . . .

"So the first thing to remember is that you cannot and must not remove yourself from the struggle to help make a choice just because it seems inadequate, or because the situation is sometimes almost unbearably painful. If you permit yourself to be called a Christian, it means that there are some aspects of this issue of human and national confrontation about which you have a particular concern — and you must not let it lapse.

"Let Christians be foremost among those who exercise the vocation of peacemakers, and most especially when mass hysteria begins to create an atmosphere in which criticism of war ' is made to sound like treason on the ground that it gives aid and comfort to the enemy'." (The quotation comes from the December statement of the National Council of Churches.)

"I urge you to use your Lent to pray and think and speak about the crucial choices which face us all."

FUND MEETING SET

Annual Reports Due. The annual meeting of the United Community Fund will be held Monday, March 7, at 7 p.m. at the Nassau Inn.

The meeting will start with a "dutch - treat" dinner which will be followed by a short business meeting to elect new officers and trustees and to listen to committee reports.

Survey chairman Philip H. Minis will present the results of the year and a half community survey. Copies of the survey will be distributed to those interested.

The United Fund's Gerard B. Lambert Award and the Community Services Award will be presented for contributions to community welfare. Campaign chairman Alan G. Frank will present awards to businesses which made outstanding contributions to the recent campaign.

Those interested in attending the annual meeting may call the United Fund office, 924-5882, on or before Friday, March 4.

PRINCETONIANS COMMENT

On the Tireless Teens. Princeton's teenagers jammed The Tomb at First Presbyterian Church every afternoon last week. ("The only place in town where you can get a 10-cent coke for 10 cents!")

While the record player blared and the kids sprawled around, adults throughout Princeton discussed the teens. And the young people said: "They ought to hear OUR side."

Adults were more compassionate in their comments than the teens realized.

In a Nassau Street restaurant, a middle-aged woman was overheard, "Remember when we were that age? Our hair in pompadours, our skirt hems down to here and our socks up to here. We looked terrible. We dressed the littlest — and my father thought I was going straight to hell!"

A father of two teenagers said, "We're answering questions that they're not asking." Another said, "They have been brainwashed on what they can or cannot do."

The gap between the generations became startlingly clear in a minor incident. A high school senior told her mother that she thought Nancy Sinatra "is an even better singer than her brother."

"Does she sing as well as her father?"

"Who?"

Progress Noted. The stepped-up program of Youth Activities in Princeton High School came in for praise from Rogers Castrington, chief of Youth Activities, formerly Young Life.

"Four years ago," he said, "there was a tight system of small cliques in the high school." Young Life submitted five pages of suggestions to the new principal, Kenneth Michael.

An informal leadership council of 14 boy leaders ("The go-get-'em kids") was formed. Each already had formal or informal responsibilities at the school and was blocked by the lack of student support.

The dance schedule was crippled. Football games, previously avoided, became the center of a number of student-led projects.

Boys began going out for cheerleading. Girls operated a money-making hot dog stand. (The band grew larger.)

Pep rallies and victory dances were added. The students wanted an election secretary and devised ways to earn the money for it.

"The first time they held a bonfire at a pep rally," Mr. Carrington remembers, "the kids had so little knowledge of what to do that they brought hot dogs and marshmallows to roast."

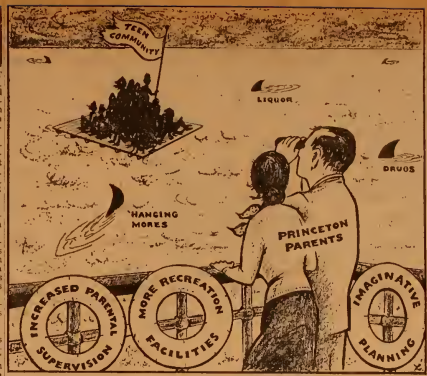
Last year's variety show put on by the students was one of the most memorable activities at the school in years. It revealed talent that dazzled even the students themselves. It was topped a short time later by a rousing production of the musical, "Bye Bye Birdie," which was sold out every night and ran for two extra performances.

This, in turn, was put into the shade by the high school dance last fall which drew 700 students to dance to the music of six bands. This week, five bus loads left on the school-sponsored ski trip.

The club programs have increased. The sports program has added ice hockey, wrestling, lacrosse, archery and golf. Participation in all sports has increased to the point that the school is in action until 5:30.

"These activities have helped take care of the energies of a lot of go-get-em kids," Mr. Carrington says. "Even the teenagers who think creatively negatively have a potential if channeled properly."

Three weeks after the initial letter from parent-teacher associations warned that there was among teenagers a growing rate of use of alcohol and a tendency to experiment in the use of drugs, the problem had been the topic of considerable discussion at all age-levels. Awareness that it existed was providing a foundation on which to curb it, to the extent that community-wide cooperation can do so.



Time to Throw Out a Line

GOING UP!

County Taxes Soar. Mercer County's purchase of Donnelly Hospital has lighted a rocket under county taxes for the 13 municipalities of Mercer County — Princeton Borough and Township included.

The Borough will pay $626,913 in taxes to the county this year, an increase of $73,773, and the Township will pay $932,882, an increase of $126,903.

The original 1966 Borough estimate of $4.55 (local, school and county) has jumped to about $4.62, per $100 of assessed valuation. The Township, never willing to estimate without firm word from the county, will probably face a rate of $6.25 per $100.

The Borough's rate last year was $4.13, the Township's $5.88.

Donnelly Hospital is an institution for indigents and the Board of Chosen Freeholders will accept only welfare clients there. The hospital has a deficit of $816,000.

Most communities in the county feel that the financial burden should be borne by municipalities whose residents use the hospital, not by the entire county. There are no Princeton Borough residents there at present.

TWO HURT IN CAVE-IN

Trench Collapses. Two construction workers were injured late Tuesday afternoon when a trench they were digging for a new sewer collapsed. The accident occurred at Ridgeview Circle in Princeton Township.

Richard Clark, 18, of Queenridge, was trapped for about ten minutes before being freed. He was taken to Princeton Hospital and X-rayed for a possible leg fracture.

George Arbour of Levittown, Pa., was treated at the hospital for contusions of the chest and back and a sprained ankle. The injuries occurred when a portion of a sidewalk above the trench struck the men. They were taken to the hospital by the First Aid and Rescue Squad.

TOWN MEETING NIGHT

On Sewers Roads. A cracker barrel and pot-bellied stove were the only props missing Monday night as Township Committee held a brief and engagingly small-town meeting.

Mayor Carl C. Schafer was down with flu so Committeeman William L. Wilson presided. The Committee of three — Russell Mount was absent, too — heard a petition from residents of State Road to extend the sewer to the top of the hill and referred the request to the engineer.

Then they refunded a plumbing permit fee to Steven Slaby, 460 Ewing, who had taken out a permit when he thought he'd have time to do some work himself. When he discovered otherwise and hired a professional plumber, the fee was paid twice.

Another refund went to Nassau Savings and Loan for a $262.84 tax bill paid twice. Committeeman Walter B. Fisler grinned sheepishly and did not vote. He is vice-president of Nassau S. & L.

Administrator Joseph R. Nini told Committee the state will pay $14,227 toward resurfacing parts of Cherry Hill, Valley Road, Lovers Lane, Snowden, Moore Street, Ridgeview Circle and Harrison Street.

An ordinance was introduced accepting Honeybrook Lane, but a petition from four residents to change the name to "Pheasant Hill Road" was passed on to the Planning Board.

Committee listened to a memo from the Recreation Board asking for Community Park: $60,000, parking lot, $7,500, landscaping; $15,000, pool fencing; $2,600, clerk-of-the-works; $1,344, portable steel bleachers; $21,000, lights for three tennis courts; $3,000, tennis shack; $2,000 bocci courts; $2,000 cables from pool to courts in case night tennis is approved. Total: $114,400.

The same memo has gone to Borough Council because recreation is a joint project.

Monday was the 41st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William I. Leigh of Trenton and Committee extended its congratulations. Mr. Leigh was a Township Committeeman from 1906 to 1913 and Township treasurer for part of that time.

proved an auto laundry and rejected a nursing home at its regular meeting on Thursday.

William Bucci has been given a special permit to build a car wash on Lower Alexander Street and a variance to accommodate the narrow, 45-foot frontage.

The Board stipulated that Mr. Bucci provide employee parking screened from view on a separate lot across Alexander from the car wash.

Mr. Bucci told the Board that his auto laundry would process about 500 cars a day, would not appreciably affect traffic and would use new detergents which are lower foam threshhold.

The car wash will be built on land presently owned by John Counts. The lot, at 425 Alexander, is next to the Princeton Water Company's roadway at the point where Alexander used to make a sharp right-angle curve before the road was re-aligned. Princeton University owns the land on the west. The car wash will fare in the direction of Route One.

The 100-bed nursing home had been planned for a five acre plot on Mount Lucas Road, formerly owned by Dr. Cornelia Jayes. The area lies in a service zone.

The Board rejected the request for a use variance on the grounds that such a use would dispair the intent and purpose of the ordinance. Permitted uses in the zone include retail stores, service stations, warehouses and so on.

Going back to Alexander Street, the Board approved the request of the Nassau Street Corporation of 221 Witherspoon, to build a one-story office building at 148 Alexander. The Board told the corporation that it would have to allow parking space for 13 cars, lay out curbs to keep cars from backing into Alexander, plant a five-foot screen and make sure that no office space is allowed in the basement.

Basement office space would require more parking space.

Westerly Road Church was granted permission to erect an addition for its Sunday School.

KOSYGIN SENT CABLE

From Scholars Here. More than 100 scholars from Princeton University, the Institute for Advanced Study and Rutgers University have cabled to Premier Alexei Kosygin of the U.S.S.R. their "profound concern" over the severe sentences meted out to Andrey Sinyavsky and Yuli Daniel, Soviet writers sentenced last week to hard labor.

A cablegram, signed by about 40, was sent last Thursday to Premier Kosygin, followed the next day by an air-mail letter with 125 signatures.

Sinyavsky, who wrote under the pseudonym Abram Tertz, was sentenced to seven years of forced labor and Denial to five years. Both men had smuggled their writings out of the U.S.S.R. for publication in western countries.

Among the 78 Princeton University signatories were Eugene P. Wigner, Nobel Prize winner; Carlos Baker, professor of English; Fritz Machlup, president of the American Economic Association; Louis Fischer, author and Walter Kaufmann, writer and professor of religion.

Also the chairmen of six Princeton University departments Alan Downer (English); John Milnor (mathematics); Victor Lange (Germanic Languages and Literatures); Edward Sullivan (Romance Languages); S. N. Hampshire (Philosophy); and Franklin W. Young (religion).

Signers from the Institute for Advanced Study were Marston Morse, Atle Selberg, Hewer Whitney, Andrew Alfold, Harold Cherniss, Felix Gilbert and Homer A. Thompson and visitors William W. Boone, Kerson Huang and Miss C. Y. Wedgwood.

From Rutgers, the 37 signers included Sidney Ratner and Simon Marcson, both residents of Princeton.

The message, after expressing the signers' concern, asked Premier Kosygin to revoke the sentences.

"Such action by you will promote better relations between the Soviet Union and the intellectuals and people of other nations, and at the same time weaken the impression that Soviet literature, art and science are fettered as they were some years ago."

HOW TO VOTE

On March 1. The special election to choose delegates to the New Jersey Constitutional Convention will be held Tuesday, March 1, with the polls open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The Convention will meet on the Rutgers campus starting March 21, to reapportion the legislature on the basis of population, as ordered by the state Supreme Court ruling.

In Mercer County, there is an unopposed, bi-partisan slate of delegates. Democratic and Republican County Committees have each nominated half the number of delegates to be elected.

Delegates are Republicans Aaron Holleodonner, Samuel Weinroth and Joseph M. Pierson, and Democrats Joseph S. Bash, David G. Goldberg and Doane Lockard.

He'll Linger Awhile

Who's that knocking
At my door?
It's March, the lion
Just here han rour!

Even before March arrives, February has to go, and it appears to have more snow in store, prior to departure.

The white stuff is expected to arrive Thursday afternoon or night, by way of a reminder that spring remains almost a month away. Clearing thereafter, but still chill.

Where To Vote. All Princeton Borough voters will vote in Borough Hall and all Township voters in the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club on Terhune Road.

In West Windsor, all voters will vote in the Town Hall; in Hopewell Borough, in Borough Hall; in Hopewell Township, in the Municipal Building; in Pennington Borough Hall and in Lawrence Township, at Rider College.

Registration books will not be used, and voters must take to the polls sample ballots addressed to them, as proof of registration.

The convention is expected to complete its work by June 15. Its proposed revisions will be voted on in a public referendum next November and the new apportionment plan will go in to effect when the legislature is elected in November, 1967.

HOW MUCH IS IT WORTH?

Township Revalues. Revaluation of all property in Princeton Township will begin next week.

The J. Cleminshaw Company of Cleveland will review all property assessments in the Township and valuate them so that properties of equal value will have equal assessments.

News Of The THEATRES

"WINDERMERE" OPENS Spring Season Begins. Look upon it as a pleasant piece of high camp, and you'll find Lady Windermere's Fan" an agreeable way to wait while the time goes by.

Oscar Wilde's comedy provides a charming opening for the spring season at McCarter, and certainly a dazzling one visually.

We learn from McCarter's thoughful program notes that the first critics who saw "Lady Windermere's Fan" when it opened in 1892 complained that action lagged while the characters merely made witty conversation.

Today, we can only be grateful. The conversation is still witty and for a modern audience, it is almost all that serves to hold the play together. It is the action that puts "Lady Windermere" into the camp camp.

"I can resist anything but temptation," says Lord Darlington, and later on, he defines a cynic in Wilde's familiar phrase as a man who knows the price of everything and the value of nothing, while Cecil Graham, in riposte, defines a sentimentalist as a man who sees an absurd value in everything and doesn't know the market price of a single thing.

For McCarter's opening night audience, the most amusing line came from one of Lord Windermere's cronies, chiding him with "Windermere! Sinners before morals!"

These verbal delights dart in, out and around a plot about the beautiful and scandalous Mrs. Erlynne who is coming between Lord Windermere and his young wife. But, what is the mystery behind this woman who is — one shudders at the word — divorced?

Is Lady Windermere justified in saying that she will strike Mrs. Erlynne across the face with her fan if that woman dares intrude into the ball? Wicked women bother me, Cecil observes, "good women bore one and that is the only difference between them," but which is Mrs. Erlynne? Both, quite possibly!

It is to the credit of Mario Siletti as a deft director and the McCarter company as a good troupe that the audience never laughs in the wrong places but only in the Wilde ones. Not even a murmur from a line like "Women like you have no hearts . . . you are bought and sold."

These Victorianisms may seem amusingly dated to a contemporary audience, but the play has its solid core. A young woman, on her 21st birthday, judges another human being harshly on insufficient evidence and becomes through the experiences that follow, a wiser and humbler person. It is a theme with timeless value.

Mr. Siletti's star in this production is Ruby Holbrook, who portrays Mrs. Erlynne with precisely the proper amount of world-wearied charm. Charlotte Glenn of Eagle, blonde Lady Windermere is a delectable, priggish little foil for Mrs. Holbrook's dark mystery.

Among the men, Gregory Abel as Lord Darlington, Clarence Felder as Dumby ("The youth of the present day are quite monstrous. They have absolutely no respect for dyed hair") and James Tripp as Cecil Graham have the best lines and the most fun.

Emery Battis brings to the part of Lord Augustus his usual gusty vigor. What a pleasure it is to watch Mr. Battis, season after season! The moment he makes his first entrance one knows, no matter what the play, that the scene will shine.

David Byrd, as Lord Windermere, isn't required to do much except to look anguished and utter such lines as "I'll search your rooms and if my wife's here . . ." and so on.

The production is a brilliant one. When Charles Blackburn, the costume designer, dresses Mrs. Holbrook in jet-embroidered emerald satin and Miss Glenn in a cloak of swirling flame red and sets them together against the dark background of Lord Darlington's paneled study, there is genuine visual drama.

So, don't be put off by people who moan about the plot, or people who tell you that "Lady Windermere" is unpalatable unless the production is vintage champagne. "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" will seem rather dear and dated in 70 years, and if this "Windermere" is not champagne it is a very good sparkling wine.

SHAKESPEARE NEXT

"Midsummer." Shakespeare's fanciful comedy, "A Midsummer Nights' Dream," one of the first Shakespeare offerings of a McCarter repertory company in the early 1960's, will be done again for this spring's drama series subscribers.

The play will open this Friday at 8.30 in McCarter. For the McCarter production the pairs of lovers will be Charlotte Glenn and James Tripp (Hermia and Demetrius), Gregory Abels and Ann Gee Byrd (Lysander and Helena), Gordon Clark and Eve Johnson (Theseus and Hippolyta), and Mario Siletti and Ruby Holbrook (Titania and Oberon). David Byrd will be Puck and Clarence Felder, Bottom.

ITALIAN TROUPE COMING

With Gassman. In "The Game of Heroes," Vittorio Gassman presents an anthology of scenes and one-act plays from the Italian Theatre, starting with the 16th century and ending with the present-day theatre of the absurd.

Signor Gassman's company will come to McCarter Sunday at 3. In "The Game of Heroes," they will perform a scene from Alfieri's "Orestes" and a selection from the Carlo Goldoni comedy, "La Locandiera;" a one-act play by Pirandello called "The Man With the Flower in His Mouth," and an extract from Ugo Betti's "The Queen and the Rebels."

Also a selection from Danilo Dolce's "Waste," Angelo Beolco's satire, "Parliament" and a contemporary drama, "An Airport Too Far Away" by Patroni Griffi. Dialogue will be in Italian (except for part of "Airport"), but an English introduction will explain each scene.

Signor Gassman is best known in the United States for his film roles in "Bitter Rice" and "Big Deal on Madonna Street," but he is known in Italy as the greatest "Hamlet" of his country and a producer, director and interpreter of important Italian drama.

BRING BARE FEET

For Israeli Dance Lesson. Old and new Israeli dances will be taught by an expert during an evening of Israeli folk dance to be held by the Princeton Ballet Society at the society's studios on Alexander Street, Saturday at 8 p.m.

Naema Prevots, who has just spent three years in Israel as a dance teacher, will be in charge of the evening. Couple dances, line dances and various forms of the hora will be included in the program.

Folk dancers from anywhere at all are, invited to attend. Bare feet are authentic for Israeli dances, but for this occasion, sneakers or ballet slippers will be admitted. An admission charge of 75 cents will be collected at the door.

"YOU CAN'T . . ."

Cast of Thousands. Life in the Sycamore family will be exposed, right down to the lowest note on that xylophone, when Theatre Intime revives "You Can't Take it With You" for eight consecutive evenings, starting this Friday and continuing through Saturday, March 5.

GRUMPY!

Is February the month when you go to bed cross and wake up irritable and you've seen enough of everybody to last you forever and there's too much snow and too much rain and you're sick of the same old veal chop, steak, spaghetti routine and the car won't start because you kicked it and your dog snaps at you because you're thinking of kicking him and there's nothing —

NOTHING — new under the sun and usually there isn't even any sun?

If February is that kind of month for you, remember it's followed by March — which can be worse.

Well, then — come have fun with us. We're sunny 365 days a year — except on Sundays and Mondays when we're closed and grumpy.

CLIMB ABOARD

Be A Cub Cadet. The Cub Cadet Estate Tractors are so darned appealing that the first time you see one at Van Zandt's you'll give up your apartment on Nassau Street and move to an Estate in Montgomery Township.

They have an insidious picture inside the promotional brochure showing a terribly chic wife in pink Capri pants driving the Cub while her husband languishes in a hammock, and presumably the Cubs are gessered for both male and female.

We saw one being sat on, if not driven, by a stalwart farmer-style male at Van Zandt's annual pancake Open House on Saturday, and all we can say is, put the men in the driver's seat.

The Cub Cadet will start in 20-below-zero weather and we hope it never has a chance to prove itself. It cannot be started without the key, which protects it from the very young, and it will plow, till, harrow, rake, seed, spray and mow with no strain or sweat and we know all this is true because we copied it from that brochure.

It's a trim, bright yellow little fellow, equipped with 38, 42 and 48-inch mowers designed to lift up the grass for even cutting, mulch it thoroughly and cut band-trimming down to a minimum. With attachments, it can be a rotary tiller, sprayer, plaster-fertilizer, lawn seeder-fertilizer. And of course, it blows snow.

Van Zandt has three International Cub Cadet Tractors, sized with seven, 10 and 12 horsepower.

If you have a really big sward, and not just a few thousand blades of grass, Van Zandt suggests International's 404 Lo-Boy tractor with a low center of gravity design. It has been developed especially for high-speed mowing and for slopes as steep as 40 degrees.

And if you're really a farmer, Van Zandt is prepared to

Pretty, Hospitalized

Just when you most need to look your prettiest, Edith comes along with a hospital gown guaranteed to heal your morale the moment you slip it on.

It's shell pink tricot with back closing and a beguiling little applique of white satin leaves across the lace-edged neckline. You may have it in blue, but think how that rosy pink would bring the bloom to a pale cheek.

Another gown, in cotton, is white with pink or blue embroidered dots under the bodice. Both styles, of course, are short.

offer you an International Backhoe for digging up to 12-15 feet. We saw one at that pancake breakfast, and although it wasn't digging at the time — it was swallowing a third helping — it was obviously well equipped. You should have seen the way it went after those pancakes.

PRINTS IN BLOOM

On Calico, Paisley. Spring prints on a linen-like rayon enliven the dress racks at Bailey's in the Princeton Shopping Center, and you may choose between calico and paisley or take home both.

The calico appears in deep royal navy with little random flowers — well, so it isn't really calico: it's little flowers on a dark ground, anyhow. The print has been fashioned into a jet with slightly flaring skirt and classic jacket with notched lapels and curving front. We saw it in a size 16, and it would indeed be cheerful and trim on a large size.

The paisley is actually a giant print of beading feathers in raspberry and cherry against a deep olive ground. The armholes are self-banded and there is a banded scoop neck. The same print has been used for a suit just like the one we described above.

Rayon-silk is another spring fabric at Bailey's. It comes in a dress with Empire top, elbow sleeves with flaring cuffs and a scoop neck. The bodice has rosebud clusters on natural, the waist has a rose band and the skirt is a deep, deep, purple.

Rayon-silk appears again in a chartreuse dress with a heavy, one-inch embroidered band around the longish short sleeves, the neckline and down the waist to a belt.

A lime dress, refreshing just to look at, has a dickey panel of white embroidery and embroidery again around the ruffled cuff. It comes in orange-crush, too.

You'll find that longish short sleeve (not quite elbow) and the ruffled cuff sleeve in great favor at Bailey's.

Knit shells by Crazy Horse have horizontal stripes against white in a choice of red, black or brass, for $6.98. Tycora, like a fine boucle, makes a dressed-up shell with very narrow crew neck and a palette including powder, orange, claret and sand.

A cotton shell — Crazy Horse, again — has rosebud nosegays in pink against white, if you can believe it. Jayson likes rosebuds, too, selecting just a few to arrange on a white shirt with a shirt-band collar.

But our favorite spring blouse is Bailey's prim little trim little print with a tiny upstanding lace edge for a collar, lace bands down the front and buy edging for the sleeves. It's claret or navy with forget-me-nots all over everywhere and who could forget?

Kaufman comedy will be given in Murray Theatre on Princeton campus at 8:30 p.m., and at 8 on the last two evenings.

Chalene Shunn, Liz Dratfield, Betty Hammond, Betty Wales, Valerie Pryce, Sally Hamilton, Garlin Morse and Mark Hamilton will be among those present, guided by Morris E. Kinnan Jr., who has acted and directed for the New York Comedy Club and the Esso Repertory Theatre.

"You Can't Take It With You" is now enjoying a revival in New York. See and compare. The xylophone, in case you've forgotten, is one of the props, along with a printing press, fireworks, two kittens and some snakes.

TASTE THAT HONEY

In British Film. "A Taste of Honey," one of the most distinguished films of the '60's will be shown in McCarter next Tuesday at 8 as part of the International Film Series.

"A full, rich work, directed with an unerring sense of rightness," said the Saturday Review. Tony Richardson, who directed "Tom Jones," was the directorial hand for "Taste of Honey," made in 1962. His cast includes Rita Tushingham as the schoolgirl seduced by a Negro sailor, Dora Bryan is her widowed mother and Murray Melvin, Robert Stephens and Paul Danquah are others in the cast.

PRINCE

Judith (now playing) stars her wrist watch, with the partSophia Loren, beautiful and sultry as ever, in a tale of a woman out for revenge. The film is lifted out of the soap opera category by two excellent actors, Jack Hawkins and Peter Finch, supporting roles. (Hawkins was last seen here as General Allenby in "Lawrence of Arabia," and Finch played here in the male lead in "The Girl With Green Eyes.")

The story takes place in Palestine during the last days of the British mandate. The underground the Haganah, is desperately preparing to defend the soon-to-be-formed state from Arab attack. As the Arab tactics are directed by a former Nazi tank expert, they smuggled into the country his embittered ex-wife, a Jewess named Judith (Sophia Loren) to help them identify him. A former prisoner of war at Dachau, she is obsessed with the idea of revenge. Hawkins is the sympathetic British officer who gives the Hagannah its first clues as to the Nazi's whereabouts. The battle-filled climax is exciting and effective.

GARDEN

Batman (now playing) Fifteen episodes are strung together for an evening in never never land with Batman and Robin. It's "Captain Midnight," "Superman" and "Buck Rogers" all in one.

From Batman's TV audience in Princeton come these varying reports: A 16-year-old dropout from the high school, "It's the funniest show I've ever seen!" An 8-year-old boy, "Mom, get a load of Batman's car!"

PLAYHOUSE

That Darn Cat (held over) is an entertainment gem for the entire family, from the Walt Disney studios.

The cast of characters ranges from young Hayley Mills to old-timer Ed Wynn. In between are Dorothy Provine, Roddy McDowall, Dean Jones and Elsa Lanchester. Bobby Darin is heard off camera singing the title song.

The plot concerns nine-pounder D.C. — short for INVADING THE GARDEN: "Batman," based on the TV serial, is currently showing at the Garden Theatre.

Darn Cat — a Siamese who roams the streets each night looking for food and excitement. He risks all nine lives one night by entering a flat occupied by two fugitive bank robbers. Their captive, a woman bank teller, manages to slip tially completed message of "help," around the cat's neck. The FBI, led by Dean Jones, try to tail the cat each night to find out where the hideout is located. The end result combines both fun and suspense.

NEW STRAND

The Overcoat and Sundays and Cybele (7 hours, thru. Sat.) Alexi Batalov, who formerly starred in many fine Russian films, directs this subtle, beautiful version of Gogol's "The Overcoat." Handy Kruger, Patricia Kozzi and Nicole Courcel turn in fine performances in the modern tragedy, "Sundays and Cybele."

The Fiancees and Rules of the Game (Start Sunday). Ermanno Olmi, a virtually (and undeservedly) unknown director, made the Italian film "The Fiancees." He is every bit as good a cameraman as Antonioni or Fellini, and he has a warmth which they often lack. "Rules of the Game," produced by Jean Renoir in 1939, is now considered one of the three greatest French films ever made. It was not a popular picture when released.

Its portrait of a corrupt society was too prophetic to be pleasant. Only a mutilated print was ever released in this country. The version showing at the New Strand is complete (subtitled) and a must for Renoir fans.

bikini and the off-shoulder nightgown.

Edith's granny is calico in deep blue with a square neck banded with white eyelet and coy little short sleeves. A similar gown — you know we mean 'night-gown,' don't you? — is long, with a puffed sleeve and a lace-trimmed yoke. For more formality, wear

The opposite of a granny gown is Olga's languid pale yellow tricot with lace straps and a high waist and a lace bra top with padding inside. Padding. You read us right.

You've heard of a slip and a half-slip. Now you've heard of a demi-slip. It's a standard slip, but very, very short, to be worn with a dress that's very, very short.

Edith has one in a floral splash of royal, powder and poppy red on white. The same print comes in petti-pants, a half-slip and, to come, bra and girdle. Solid demi-slips are pink, white or beige.

A scattering of tulips, scilla and primroses, small scale, brightens a Warner bikini and its matching hairsilip. In a week or two, matching bra and girdle.

Colors like mint green, pink, navy, yellow, coral, white and beige are in Edith's spring bra collection.

Some of the gown-pejnoir sets at Edith's will make you sing, "Comes the Revolution time." Look at this absurdly full skirt of white eyelet accented from the hem, eyelet for a yoke, double ruffles at the short sleeves and an eyelet collar making the no-sleeves of the gown Sky blue and primrose yellow.

Accordion pleats spring from a short robe with eyelet, again, cap sleeves and a low neckline It's pink or yellow. And gingham! Well, here's a navy and white gingham with red pin dots in each square, rather like point d'esprit, and eyeletedged U neckline, wee puff sleeves and red piping between the navy gingham and the white ruffle. Talk about charm.

An exquisite short gown in yellow has narrow bands of faggoting two inches apart all the way from square neckline to lace-edged hem. The wide, wide sleeves are lace-edged, too.

Palest lime tricot has been used for a more sophisticated gown, this one edged at short hem and narrow bertha collar with deeper lime.

MEET THE PRESIDENTS: George Grace (left) of Princeton Township, Mrs. Paul J. Strayer, Princeton Borough, and W. Bradford Craig of West Windsor Township assumed office this week as presidents of their respective school boards. It will be the first term for Mrs. Strayer, second for Mr. Grace and third for Mr. Craig. An estimated 5,600 students attend the schools in their districts.

"If any inequities have crept into our tax assessment program over the years during which properties have been assessed solely on an individual basis, this general revaluation will correct them," said Stuart Robson, Township assessor.

Mr. Robson and the Cleminshaw experts will confer with Princeton's real estate brokers and appraisers as the work progresses, and Mr. Robson will continue his regular program of revising current assessments on individual property as circumstances warrant.

The last complete revaluation of Township assessments was in 1936. The Cleminshaw firm was in charge of that revaluation, also.

The current revaluation will cost $25,200 and will be completed about October 1. Township taxpayers who have questions are invited to confer with Mr. Robson.

ELECT MRS. STRAYER

To Head Borough Schools

Mrs. Paul J. Strayer, one of the first members of the Borough Board of Education to advocate Borough-Town ship school merger, has been elected board president. She defeated Graham Rohrer by a 7-2 vote. John A. Buckland succeeds Mrs. Strayer as vice-president.

The organization meeting, held Wednesday, drew an audience of 26 residents. William H. Rhodes, board secretary, administered the oath of office to the victors of the February 8 election: Dr. Buckland, Dr. Robert A. Lively, incumbents, and Mrs. Arthur F. Wagner.

Mrs. Strayer, a board member since 1962, has worked in behalf of school merger since her election. She has played a key role in the inter-school Curriculum Advisory Committee and as board representative to the Citizens Advisory Committee on Vocational Education.

Residents present saw a perfunctory aftermath to a series of sessions held by the board majority on the preceeding Sunday and Monday. Mrs. Strayer was nominated by Dr. Harvey D. Rothberg. Mrs. William Miller nominated Mr. Rohrer. The written ballots were tallied, and Mrs. Strayer read a statement of acceptance.

Tribute to Rohrer. She paid tribute to Mr. Rohrer, who had won the presidency by unanimous vote in 1964 and 1965), stating that he had served "beyond the call of duty." He was appointed chairman of the building committee Mr Rohrer, in relinquishing the post, quoted Theodore Roosevelt, stating that the future's problems should be attacked with "unbending, unflinching purpose."

The depth of feeling between the two factions on the board was evidenced by Mrs. Miller's nominating statement and by the stony silence which greeted it. Mr. Rohrer, a little more than a year ago, had stunned his fellow board members by announcing at a hastily-called press conference that he had joined the board in endorsing Borough-Township school merger report because, as president, he was bound by the majority of his board. But as an individual member, he said, he felt a number of reasons for dissent.)

Mrs. Miller, in nominating Mr. Rohrer, stated, "Despite many difficulties, he achieved an amicable arrangement with the trustees of the Westminster Choir College for the purchase of the only available land left to the Borough — on which we are completing our new unified kindergarten through 8th grade elementary school ad ream of many parents for generations.

"As part of this exciting project, he negotiated with the administration of Princeton University for the sale of the Nassau Street School, and this resulted in an important contribution by the University to the excellence of elementary school education in the Borough.

"... he participated in recruiting a new principal for the high school, in the revitalization of the English and science departments and in the adoption of the federal lunch program. While we have had our differences on methods of merging with the Township; every member of the board could always count on Graham Rohrer to conduct our business impartially and justly."

She noted that Dean Elmer G. Hemrighausen, a board member for 21 years who retired this month, said to the board last spring, "And I want Graham to continue as president of the board and lead us through the next few critical years."

The silence following her nomination was so deep that no seconding motion was heard. Later in the meeting School Superintendent Chester R. Streup expressed his appreciation of Mr. Rohrer's "excellent leadership" and for his recognition of the line which separates policy-making from administration.

Mrs. Strayer stated that other committee appointments will be announced at the February 28 meeting.

NLCA BEGINS DRIVE

For "Watchdog" Support. A Lawrenceville civic group, the North Lawrence Citizens' Association, has begun a membership drive, seeking saturation support from all 750 voters in north Lawrence Township.

Organized as a "watchdog" group, the NLCA has sent representatives to every municipal meeting and public hearing since its formation six years ago. Accordint to one member, matters concerning the NLCA at present are the pending master plan ("I'll make some people's hair stand on end!"); the routing of Highway I-95 and a re-zoning request from the Educational Testing Service, which plans to construct more buildings.

Officers of NLCA are Dudley Woodbridge, president; William G. LaTourette, first vice-president; Charles Reylea, second vice-president; Donald H. Tyler, treasurer, and George R. Wilson, secretary. A former

YOUR HANDS SPEAK!

"Don't talk with your hands" polite society admonishes — but nevertheless, hands are highly expressive. And if you do have a habit of gesturing (and how many of us don't?), why not make sure that your hands are an attractive asset to your conversation?

The Thorne Pharmacy in Princeton Junction has a large assortment of hand preparations which include hand lotions, creams, nail polish and remover, cuticle softeners and a variety of manicure implements.

If you don't use your hands for emphasis, why not emphasize your hands anyway? We, at Thorne's look forward to being of service to you.

president, K. Dexter Miller Jr., is now serving on the Township planning board.

The NLCA successfully opposed a 268-unit, low-cost housing project proposed by the Kendall Realty Company for the Cranstoun Farm north of Lawrenceville. The farm is now a Township-owned Greenacres area. On another occasion, NLCA secured engineering advice, and the facts it presented prevented the construction of a blast furnace on U.S. Route 1, Somerset County, where the blast furnace is installed, is now seeking a court injunction to close down the plant for air pollution.

The relationship between the Township governing bodies and the NLCA has developed into mutual respect, the NLCA says. "Our mutual problems fall into three general classifications: the Spoilers the Big Operators and the Nibblers," all of whom have attempted to obtain variances, re-zonings or special use permits which would downgrade the area.

"We feel that the Village and the rural area to the north is a good place to live and that it deserves preservation and improvement rather than exploitation." Association dues are allocated to legal council, technical advice and a newsletter among the membership.

IT'S "LUCKY 13"

For Hospital Fete "Lucky 13th" is the theme chosen for this year's Hospital Fete because it's the 13th anniversary of the hospital benefit.

Chairmen for this year will be Mrs. Edward R. Farley Jr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Morgan. The date of the Fete: June 4. The site: Community Park.

Games of skill and chance, the Auction, the Lane of Shops, the garden tents, children's entertainment — all the old favorites will be back again for the all-day event.

Volunteers who would like to help in any capacity should call Mrs. Farley at 924-5881 or Mrs. Morgan at 924-3988.

Members of the Steering Committee of the Women's Auxiliary of the Hospital, are key figures in making plans for the Fete. They are Mrs. Charles B. Hanan, president of the Auxiliary, and Mesdames John R. Sheehan, G. Alfred Cluett Jr., Marshall Dana, R. Kenneth Fairman, Donald W. Griffin, Bernard Kilgore, David R. Miller, Albridge C. Smith III, William M. Webster, William L. Wilson, Sally S. Ely, William Adamson Jr., and Sidney Blaxill.

Mrs. John E. Kuser and Mrs. John M. Weber will serve as Fete secretaries and Samuel W. Lambert III and John V. Trubee, treasurers.

The Auction will be directed by Mrs. Nathaniel Burt and Mrs. Maurice F. Healy Jr. and Children's Entertainment will be under the direction of Mrs. Bradford Mills and Mrs. Richard de J. Osborne.

Mrs. Charles H. Place and Mrs. Paul E. Van Horn of the Doctors Wives' Committee will be in charge of the Information Center.

Fete decorations will be supervised by Mesdames Lawrence E. Benson, Richard M. Huber and John P. Murray Jr. Chairmen of the Food Committee are Mrs. Charles L. Jaffin and Mrs. Charles C. Townsend and the chairman of the Garden Committee is Mrs. J. Seth H. Cruise.

Mrs. Robert M. Merritt and Mrs. Ray B. Sowers will assemble the Lane of Shops.

William Dettmar and Alan G. Frank will supervise the Midway and William Miller will be chairman of the Parking Committee.

Program directors are Mrs. L. V. Silvester Jr. and Mrs. Roger Willock and Mrs. Robert A. Gilbert and Mrs. William Bonthron are co-chairmen of the Raffle Committee. Mr. and Mrs. Charles St. John are chairmen of the Receiving Committee.

Staging will be managed by Mesdames J. Harris Mathey, Fred E. Schluter and Stuart Van V. Wilson Jr.

CAN WE GO AHEAD?

Hospital Meeting Set. Can Princeton Hospital begin, this spring, to build its delayed "J" Building addition?

The answer to that question is expected Monday night when George W. Conover, president of the hospital's board of trustees, makes his report at the annual meeting of the Princeton Hospital Cor-

The Maintenance and Care Of The Hair

Like a healthy complexion, a healthy and abundant scalp of hair is frequently an inheritance. The skin, however, is more completely visible to its wearer, who more easily recognizes changes in its condition or appearance, however slight, than in that of the hair. The exposed areas of the skin are usually washed at least twice daily, and most women will often additionally nurture theirs with balms and unguents.

The hair, as an appendage of the skin also must be given regular scrupulous care to a far greater extent than some often washed areas of the skin; the hair is exposed to dust, noxious fumes and vapors.

I find that many women don't like to shampoo their hair too often for fear of losing the natural oils in their hair. Women can and have done more harm to the hair by undershampooing their hair than by cleaning it whenever necessary. There are now preparations that give nourishment to the hair and scalp.

Women very seldom neglect their skin — they pamper it with creams and lotions — this must also be done to the hair and scalp if you are to have a healthy head of hair. Hair cleanness, hygiene and hair conditioning, words which suggest nothing exciting, have been hurled at us so continuously during our lifetime that they have come to lose the impact they should have. Yet, I know of nothing so beneficial to the health of one's hair as the patient and unrelenting practice of hair conditioning for the basic,regular procedure and the maintenance of good healthy hair. REPUBLICANS LOOK FORWARD: A mid-winter luncheon will be given this Thursday by the Women's Republican Club of Princeton at the Nassau Inn. Albert W. Merck will speak on "Republicans and the Forward Look." The women shown here participated in the recent Mid-Winter Forum of the state Federation of Republican Women. (Left to right) Mrs. Stanley C. Sawyer, Ralph C. Chandler, Walter T. Margetts Jr., U. S. Senator Clifford P. Case and Mrs. Donald A. Pickering.

poration. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Princeton High School.

The decision to build or not to build hinges on the success of the current campaign to raise $615,793 against a "challenge" gift of $250,000. Cost of constructing the "J" building will be $2,670,000.

Members of the corporation will elect a class of five trustees on Monday night and will vote on a proposal to modify the by-laws to permit trustees to serve four successive three-year terms instead of two.

Five members of the board of trustees are running unopposed. They are Mrs. Hans G. Bauer, Frederick P. Lawrence, Charles H. Masters, Richard G. Macgill and Richard W. Baker Jr.

John C. Whitwell, treasurer of the hospital, will summarize the institution's financial status. Advance reports indicate that the hospital is continuing to operate in the black.

John W. Kauffman, administrator for the hospital, is expected to report that a record number of patients used the hospital in 1965: 8,700, contrasted to 7,945 the previous year.

Mrs. Charles B. Hanan will report on the activities of the Women's Auxiliary, the Hospital Aid Committee, the Princeton Hospital Volunteers, Junior Volunteers, Red Cross Nurses' Aides Doctors' Wives Group and Hospitality Committee.

Women's activities include the Hospital Aid Shop, the annual June Fete, the Baby Picture Service, Christmas Bonticque, rummage sales and the annual Auxiliary Auction among others.

STUDENT CHARGED

With Assault. A Princeton University sophmore has been charged with striking a high school student on Nassau Street.

William M. Dickey, 114 Holder Hall, allegedly struck John Leiggi, 15, 168 Alexander Street, in the mouth as he was standing in front of the Princetown Coffee Shoppe, 84 Nassau. The incident took place at 12:30 a.m. February 12.

According to police, young Leiggi was standing with his older brother in front of the coffee shop when Dickey passed by. As they exchanged words, Dickey suddenly punched the younger boy in the mouth, police said, turned, and walked toward Holder Hall on campus.

A few days later, the two brothers identified Dickey as the assailant from pictures in a yearbook. The boy's parent signed the complaint, police said.

TEENAGER APPREHENDED

Made Annoying Calls. A continuing problem facing the Borough police is that of annoying phone calls.

It is largely a frustrating problem because the introduction of modern dial systems has transformed the detection of these callers from a relatively easy process into an involved and time-consuming one. Apprehension depends on close cooperation between the police and the recipient and arrests are infrequent.

Last week, police arrested a Borough teenager for making annoying phone calls. Lt. Francis Maguire said that the juvenile had admitted making the calls during the last several months. After hearing the $135,000 To Go!

Princeton Hospital needs $135,000 to wind up its emergency building fund campaign. Total to date: $470,536. Total amount needed: $615,793.

The final $135,000 must be collected before the hospital can claim the $250,000 "challenge" gift offered by an out-of-town foundation.

Among the new gifts this week are $44,900 in new pledges from the hospital's medical and dental staff; a gift of $1,000 from the Conger Foundation of New York and a pledge of $6,000 from Palmer Square Inc.

ease the Princeton Juvenile Conference Committee recommended that psychiatric help be sought for the youth.

Still the calls continue. For the previous week, the police docket listed eight reports of annoying telephone calls. "Some of them report receiving a series of calls," commented Lt. Maguire.

He added that a large number of calls go unreported. They may be said, from the obscene to the irritating where the caller remains silent or just breathes into the receiver. Women are the favorite target.

Lt. Maguire urges that anyone who is being victimized by annoying phone calls call the police. The annoying call is pervasive in Princeton and it can only be halted by cooperation with the police.

SPORTS CAR CRASHES

On Rosedale Road. James W. Lovelace, 22, 20 Maple Avenue, Plainsboro was kept in Princeton Hospital for two days for observation following the crash of his sports car on Rosedale Road at 3 a.m. Sunday. He was treated for a laceration in the back of his head and extensive bruises.

Police report that Mr. Lovelace's car went into a 75-foot skid, left the roadway, knocked down a mailbox and hit a tree in front of 390 Rosedale Road. They said the road was snow covered but had been sanded. There were no charges.

Mr. Lovelace's 1966 Austin Healey was demolished. Police said it had been driven only 1300 miles.

On Saturday, Michael Negron, 19, of New York was charged with careless driving and being an unlicensed driver by Pfc. David Wilbur of the Township Police.

Mr. Negron, police said, crossed over the Mt. Lucas Road center line and struck the car of Joseph Divisio Jr., 29, of Mt. Lucas Road who was stopped in his driveway. Mr. Divisio sustained bruises of the left side, waist and hip.

Mr. Negron told police that his foot had caught under the brake pedal and he lost control. The ensuing crash heavily damaged the Negron car and its impact forced the second car into a tree.

ALL-TIME RECORD SET

In P.U. Alumni Giving. Princeton University's 26th Annual Giving Campaign for unrestricted funds has set an all-time record of more than $2.2 million, and the Princeton University Fund is confident that the total will approach $2.4 million when the campaign ends this week. Princeton's annual giving campaigns start on November 1 and ends on Washington's birthday.

The new record was obtained from contributions from Princeton University alumni, non-alumni parents and other friends. The previous record of $2,148,000 was set last year.

The record figures were the highlight of a report by F. Stark Newberry '27 of West

THIS IS PRINCETON: Ken Lee, of the Kilmer Job Corps Center, receives a Princeton welcome from Mr. and Mrs. Burnett Sams and their daughter, Barbara. The scene is the "Next Door" coffee lounge at the First Presbyterian Church. Ken is one of the 28 Kilmer Job Corpsmen who spent the weekend in Princeton. See "Topics of the Town." (David G. Orange, campaign chairman. Two of the 68 alumni classes were singled out by Mr. Newberry for their contributions. They are the Class of 1926 and the Class of 1941, both of which raised in excess of $150,000.

WELCOME JOB CORPS.

28 Visit Princeton. A corps of 28 young men from the Camp Kilmer Job Corps Center spent the weekend in Princeton as guests of the Princeton Jaycees and "host families" from Princeton and surrounding communities.

"Many members of the Job Corps have experienced less-than-ideal family relationships," said Douglas Bosomworth of Hightstown, chairman of the project. We think the weekend was a success because of the understanding that developed between Corpsmen and the hosts."

The weekend began when the bus arrived from Kilmer at 7 p.m. For an hour, the young men were entertained at the "Next Door" coffee house in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church with refreshments and songs from folk singer Larry Trettin.

At 8:30 p.m., hosts came to the church to pick up their guests and take them home. Princeton host families were R. E. Benaison, J. Brett-Smith, Robert C. Duncan, Stuart Gilmor, George J. Goldsmith.

Also J. R Hattener, Eugene A. Jackson, Heath Licklider, Raymond F. Male, Bryan V. Moore, Edward Nelson, Burnett H. Sams, A. R. Sizemore, Theodore M. Vial and Daisy Woolridge.

Other hosts were the Rev. Ervy Boothe and Roy H. Cornely of Skillman; William R. Linke and Robert Norland of Cranbury, the Rev. David Muyskens and Jerome R. Schulster of Hightstown and Harry R. Davis, Pennington and Jack Cooper, Belle Mead.

At 9 a.m. Saturday, host families took their guests to Princeton University for a tour by Orange Key Club undergraduates. After the tour, the Corpsmen went to the Walker-Gordon farms to see the Rotolector, and automatic rotating milking machine. Although many of the young men have lived on farms, none of them had ever seen a machine like the Rotolector.

Saturday lunch was at the YMCA with members of the Jaycees and the Y Men's Club. During lunch Dr. John Shy, of Princeton University, outlined the Revolutionary War battles fought in this area, and after lunch, the Y Men's Club took the Corpsmen out to the battlefields where they retraced Washington's steps during the battles of Princeton and Trenton.

Saturday evening was optional. The Corpsmen were invited to attend either the Teen Town dance at the Y or a movie, or spend the evening at home with their hosts.

On Sunday, Corpsmen went to church with their families, were entertained by them during the day and returned to Kilmer by bus at 3:30.

BUSINESS In Princeton

NEW OFFICE OPENED

By Industrial Designer. Branislaw Zapolski, a designer of consumer products for the electronics industry, has opened a Princeton office at One Palmer Square.

Zapolski Industry Design was founded 15 years ago in New York. Its clients have been major companies such as Union Carbide, RCA, Bulova, Montgomery Ward and Westinghouse. The Princeton office has been established to serve several growing middle-sized companies which do not maintain large industrial design staffs.

The firm's designs have included most types of electronic equipment from appliances to ultrasonic devices. It has also designed interiors for offices, bakeries and restaurants.

Mr. Zapolski is a former chairman of the New York chapter of the Industrial Designer's Institute. Many of his firm's designs have been chosen for exhibitions in Europe. The firm's design for a portable record player was recently awarded a prize and a citation by an engineering group.

Mr. Zapolski, a native of New Jersey, has spent much of his life in New York. He now lives in Rocky Hill with his wife and three sons who attend school in Princeton.

BANK WINS BID

For Housing Authority. Princeton Bank and Trust is the successful bidder for the Princeton Housing Authority's temporary notes in the amount of $695,000. The bank offered 2.90% interest plus $26 on the full amount.

These notes are issued about every six months to refund outstanding obligations incurred in connection with Princeton's housing progress and $695,000 is the total cost of the Hagerman Homes on Clay Street.

By issuing such temporary notes from time to time, the authority obtains the participation of private capital in the development of its Federally-aided projects.

Other bidders were Morgan Guaranty Trust and the First National City Bank.

SALES INCREASE

At General Devices. General Devices, Inc., the Princeton-based corporation which specializes in design and manufacture of telemetry instrumentation, announces a jump in sales for 1965. Sales volume almost doubled over 1964 to reach $1,000,000 for the first time since 1960.

Murray Medvin, General Devices' General Sales Manager, attributed the increase to acceptance here and abroad of GDI's new line of electro-mechanical and solid state airborne multiplexers. The new line's outstanding feature is a high density packaging which reduces airload three times that of their former standard design.

By Waldron and MacNamee. Joseph J. Waldron and R. Douglas MacNamee have established a new advertising agency, Waldron and MacNamee Inc., at 28 West State Street, Trenton. Mr. Waldron is the organization's president; Mr. MacNamee, vice-president.

Mr. MacNamee, who lives at 118 Westerly Road, has spent many years in advertising agency and broadcasting activities in New York City, and a number of his sales films and television commercials have won awards.

He was a vice-president of Erwin Wasey, Ruthraff & Ryan and has also been associated with BBD&O, Benton & Bowles and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

In 1962, he joined Thomas and David Inc in Trenton and became copy director for advertising and public relations. He is a Princeton University graduate.

Mr. Waldron, who lives in Yardley, Pa., was president of Thomas and David, Inc for the last five years. The new firm will service a number of national accounts and others in this area.

THOMAS JOINS LAIDLAW

As Representative. R. Barton Thomas son of Mrs. Barton Thomas, 162 Mercer Street, and the late Harrison Thomas, has become a registered representative with Laidlaw & Company.

Mr. Thomas, a Harvard graduate, has taken the graduate program in business at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. Before joining Laidlaw's Princeton office, he received special training in securities markets in New York.

NEW MEMBERS NAMED

To Applied Logic Corp. Five new members have been appointed to the mathematics staff of the Applied Logic Corporation.

Larry G. Settle, Washington Street, Rocky Hill, has joined the company as a mathematician. Mr. Settle was formerly a research engineer with the Missile Systems Group of the General Dynamics Corporation.

David B. Loveman III, has been named senior programmer. He is combining his duties at Applied Logic with his studies for a Ph.D degree in applied mathematics at Harvard. Mr. Loveman earned his B.S. degree in electrical engineering at Princeton University.

Mrs. Sarah Ann Droege, 21 Stillwell Road, Kendall Park, has been appointed a programmer. Mrs. Droege also serves as an instructor in information processing at Rutgers University.

Roger Haydock, 122 Dodge-Osborn Hall, has joined the company as an assistant programmer. He is a student and a University Scholar at Princeton University.

Mrs. Eleanor G. Wells, 448 Walnut Lane and Mrs. Jean H. Licklider, 87 McCosh Circle have also been named assistant programmers. Mrs. Wells is currently attending Rutgers, and Mrs. Licklider is a graduate of Rutgers' Retraining Program in mathematics.

VICE-PRESIDENT NAMED

By Conti Real Estate. Leon A. Sussman, 466 Greenway Avenue, Trenton, has been named vice-president and business partner of Richard J. Conti and Company Real Estate.

The firm recently relocated at 2907 Brunswick Pike in Lawrence Township. It concentrates on serving the Ewing, Lawrence and Princeton areas employing three brokers and nine licensed salesmen.

Correction

In the comparative stock quotations of Princeton area firms listed last week, the figures for First National Bank—"2 3/4 bid, 53 1/2 ask — were incorrect. The correct figures are 67 bid, none offered

ART ON DISPLAY

At Princeton Bank. Several works by Princeton artists are on exhibit at the Princeton Band and Trust Company, 76 Nassau Street. The paintings were done by members of the Princeton Art Association.

The paintings represent many different styles and techniques. Photographic reproductions of the paintings used on the bank's 1966 calendar are also on display. The exhibit will continue in the bank lobby until the end of the month.

Among the works on exhibit are "Head of a Woman" by Mary L. Wilson; "Abandoned" by Dorothy Tribble; "Estrangement" by Trudy Gluckshberg; "Birdfoot Violet" by Patricia G. Pogue; "Crew" by Henry Martin; "Free" by Charles McVicker; "Regatta" by Anita Bernarde; "Node" by Shirlee Lorel; "Macy Watts Market" by Yvonne Burk; "Rural Landscape — Griggstown" by William Monaghan; "November Woods" by Mary E. Johnson; and "Tree" by James Graves.

MAN SENT TO WORKHOUSE

For Liquor Violation. Edward S. Dugger, 39, 12 Leigh Avenue, was sentenced to 60 days in the Mercer County Workhouse Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. for obtaining alcohol for minors.

Lt. Francis Maguire reported that the police had recommended to Kester Pierson, assistant Borough attorney, that he seek to have the maximum sentence imposed in the hope that it would serve as a deterrent to future purchases or sales of alcohol to minors. The maximum sentence is $200 or 90 days in jail or both.

Dugger was arrested on Friday. While he was in jail, police said he tried to rip his cell apart, doing considerable damage to the toilet and water tank.

For this, he was charged with malicious mischief and this offense also drew a 90-day workhouse sentence from Magistrate Tams. Both sentences are to run concurrently.

Anderson Peeler, 2 Washington Street, Rocky Hill, was fined $17. Police said he was brought into court on a warrant by the Rocky Hill police after he had objected to an additional fine for failing to pay a parking ticket on time.

In traffic court, Stanley A. Ewing, 22, 16 Leigh Avenue, paid three fines: $15, unregistered vehicle; $15, having plates on a car which did not belong on it; and $10, no registration in possession.

Edwin A. Tounsaint, 24, Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction, and Leroy B. Smith, 47, 46 Leigh Avenue were each fined $25 for careless driving. In addition, Mr. Smith's license was revoked for 60 days.

The case involving a charge of driving while intoxicated, brought last week against Dr. Robert A. Lively, 39 University Place, was adjourned. It was originally scheduled for Monday and no new date has been set for the hearing.

$75 IS TAKEN

From Princeton Stationers. About $75 was stolen Monday night from Princeton Stationers at 86 Nassau Street. Owner Bernie Weinstein told police the money was under a counter in the front of the store.

Police said they believe entry was gained through a rear door. Detective Robert McAvenia is investigating.

Police also reported calls over the weekend reporting the theft of wallets at eating clubs on Prospect Avenue. Two were received from the Tower Club and one each from Tiger Inn and Dial Lodge.

"It looks as if someone went through all the clubs," said Lt. Francis Maguire.

SCOUTS HEAR GOGOLAK

At Banquet. Tiger placekicking star Charlie Gogolak spoke to Cub Scout Pack 43 at the annual Blue and Gold Banquet at the First Presbyterian Church.

The official Cub Scout Charter was presented to the Rev. Ralph Chandler of the church by Carl Sonnenschein, representing the Stony Brook District of the George Washington Scouting Council. Ellwood Kauffman, Cubmaster, presented the Den Mothers with framed planues in appreciation of their efforts.

"I THINK IT'S NICE, BUT . . .: Dency Roe (left) and Alissa Cawley, Princeton High sophomores, both think the idea of a student lounge at Community Park is fine but each has a reservation. Miss Cawley, like many, has doubts about the location; Miss Rue offers an interesting aside about The Hoods and the 400's and how they could affect the success or failure of such a lounge. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: What is your reaction to the news that a student lounge may be built at Community Park?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Dency Rue, Province Line Road, PHS sophomore: I think it's a pretty good idea — if you can get the students to mix together. The Hoods and the 400's. That's two different groups here. They never have fun together; they hate each other. They're made up of entirety different types of people. The Next Door is a pretty good place. It's the first where the two ever mixed. Yes, I think it's a good idea. I'd go.

Alissa Cawley, 8 Westcott Road, PHS sophomore: I think it's a very good idea but I have one thing against it: it's too far away. Be better if it were more like the Next Door on Nassau Street. More kids go to it, everybody just loves it but it is too small. It's been jampacked ever since they opened it. Community Park is too out of the way for everything.

Susan Shaw, 10 Vernon Circle, PHS freshman: No one wants to go near a school and there will be two right there—Valley Road and Community Park. If you go there after school, they'll have the junior graders and the sixth graders there. I don't want any little kids around.

Peter Starbuck, 11 McLean Circle, PHS junior: I think it's great. They've needed something like this for a long time. They're yelling in the paper about private parties where everybody gets drunk . . . here's a public party . . . you can't go drinking at a student lounge. I'm not so sure about the location but it seems like a good spot. It's an expensive to rent property on Nassau Street.

Tracy Eddleger, 1 Jefferson Lane, Princeton Junction, PHS freshman: I'd rather have it on Nassau Street. More kids come up here and hang around. Community Park is a bad place because it is too far away from everything. If you want to come up to town first for something, it is too far to walk back. I voted for Nassau Street. If it were on Nassau Street I would be near shopping, stores — everything.

Honey Carroll, 77 Jefferson Road, PHS freshman: I agree with Tracy. Actually, if it were built over there, I don't think very many would go. They have The Tomb at the church (First Presbyterian), which is only for high school kids and a lot of people are going there. It's right in the middle of town. We're on our way there now, as a matter of fact. If it is built in Community Park, I won't go. I won't walk that far. I have to come up town to get things, anyway.

Steve Bryant, Galbreath Drive, PHS junior: I definitely think it's a good thing. It will give the kids something to do on weekends, and will help keep them out of trouble. You read all about this drinking and dope in the papers . . . here they would have much more supervision. It seems like a pretty good location as it is kind of hard to get a place on Nassau Street. I'd go myself.

Lucy Stefanelli, Lawrenceville Road, PHS junior: I think it's a good idea. I think it would get rid of a lot of loiterers; guys who are just hanging around town and getting into a lot of trouble. If they had a place to go, it would cut down on this. I think it's a good location. It's right in the center of town and everybody can get there.

Linda Hanzl, Skillman, PHS freshman: I feel it is pretty close to the school and a lot of kids could get there. I believe the parents would be a little bit more skeptical if it were on Nassau Street because it would be too close to the University. My mother wouldn't let me up on Nassau Street but she wouldn't mind it if it were closer to the school.

Rita Tamasi, 36 Wilton Street, PHS junior: I think it's a good idea. I guess if you are really interested in something like this you'll go; if you're not, you won't. I think Community Park is a perfect place. All that lawn and grass. I like something with a country kind of look to it. Yes, I'd go if it were built.

Brandon Steinbiel, 11 Hickory Court, PHS junior: I think if they put it in Community Park, it will be a mistake. It's out of the way, it's not up town where everything is. It would be a waste of money. The kids would rather come up to Nassau Street, especially during the spring, and loaf. There's a different feeling about Nassau Street. The University has color . . . it's an atmosphere for loafing.

Mark Abrams, Armour Road, PHS junior: I think it would be much better if they built it on Nassau Street. If it's located in Community Park, I'll never be there. It's too far.

Judy Barratt, Province Line Road, PHS junior: I think it's a great idea because of this is my example (The Next Door): it will be great. It gets the kids off the street. You have somewhere to go that's your own. You can stay here and hang around and not get kicked out. You can stay as long as you want. Because of this, I feel the kids are likely to respond with respect and good behavior. It's the only place where you can actually get 10-cent cokes for 10 cents. The Community Park location doesn't bother me — it's close to my house — but I think it would tend to keep a lot of other kids away. I think more would come here. This is more centralized.

Abby Patterson, 46 Westcott Road, Stuart School freshman: I think people will go to it if they really want to. If they're going to all this trouble to get this thing going, I feel the students will respond. I don't think the location is too bad — it's near the swimming pools and in late spring and summer the kids will want to go swimming, too.

Tom Frisbie, 59 Leabrook Lane, PHS junior: I think it's a good idea. It's a nice place to go and spend some time.

Pool Fees Protested.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We were surprised and distressed by the recently announced fees for the Community Park Pool. They reflect a policy that is most peculiar in that the fees unnecessarily penalize lower income families.

The daily fee of $1 weekdays and $1.25 (weekends) per child is set high relative to the yearly fee of $40 per family. In this community there are families who cannot afford to pay $40 in a lump sum. Consequently, these families will either be excluded from using the pool, pay a relatively high portion of the pool costs if they pay daily fees, or be given a ticket because of a charitable contribution.

Daily fees need to be low so that lower income families do not pay a disproportionate share of the cost.

The possibility of charity in the form of scholarships contributed by more affluent families is completely undesirable and unnecessary for a public facility.

The basic policy now is that those who use the pool pay the operating costs. This means that these families not in Princeton during the summer, those families who belong to university pools, those families who have a back yard pool, and those families who belong to private pools, i.e. relatively affluent Princetonians will be deprived of sharing the responsibility for the cost of this needed facility.

This does not represent the policy in other community areas. For example, we all pay for schools and we all share in the costs for the library. The entire community shares these costs because all share the responsibility for these needs.

It is apparent that not enough consideration was given to alternate ways of paying pool operating costs. We believe that the public deserves to be heard on this matter before policy is set.

We request that the Borough Council and Township Committee consider alternatives in more detail as work is started on the construction of the pool at Community Park.

"Guldplated Country Club."

To the Editors of Town Topics:

The stiff admission fees proposed for the Community Park pool are hardly likely to encourage attendance. Instead of a "community" pool, they seem to be planning a guldplated country club — for our golden ghetto.

Pool Rates "Cruel Irony."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was horrified to read in TOWN TOPICS (February 17) that family memberships in the Community Gardens Park swimming pool complex will cost $40 or $1.50 per person on weekdays. This is higher than the Quarry or Paradise Pool, both of which are private facilities. How can Princeton taxpayers be asked to support what will be essentially a private club?

And what cruel irony places the pool and tennis courts within view of Princeton residents very few of whom will be able to afford the stiff fees?

Fees Are "Laughable."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

After reading and rereading the article about the "Community Gardens swimming pool complex, I have decided that this really is supposed to be Princeton's answer to the demands for a public swimming pool. It's laughable.

If the present plans really call for such very unpublic fees, the Joint Recreation Board had better lower its sights. If the fees have been set deliberately to exclude the people who need the facility most, a more cynical move would be hard to imagine.

Pool Fees Attacked.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was shocked to read the schedule of resident membership fees for the Community Gardens Park swimming pool complex put forth by the Joint Recreation Board. This long-disputed project has experienced severe birth pangs every step of the way. Now, on the eve of construction, high fees threaten to prohibit use by the very people who need it the most.

The so-called "community" pool has become another "club" for families who can pay $40 a year. Youngsters whose parents have not "joined" will be forced to pay $1 and $1.50 on weekdays and $1.25 and $2 on weekends. How many families can allow their children to go for a regular swim on this basis?

It is abundantly clear that this schedule is designed to keep the community pool "exclusive," for one can be sure that few Negro and Italian citizens will join. This should alleviate the fears of a very powerful segment of the community, while youngsters with no place to swim continue to walk the streets each summer looking for recreational facilities still unavailable to them in Princeton.

I've often been asked how I can question the sincerity and integrity of the hard-working and highly moral leaders of our community? A decision like this enough to do it.

days a week, with a Sunday schedule to be announced. At 11, the pool area will be cleared and admission charged.

Mr. Barr says the Commission sent a questionnaire on pool fees to every city in the middle-Atlantic area having a municipal pool. The Commission also polled private swim clubs in the Princeton area and consulted with the National Recreation and Park Association.

The $40 Princeton fee is lower, Mr. Barr says, than the average fee at municipal pools, which is about $65. (For a family of four during a ten-week season, the rate amounts to $1 per person per week, or 25 cents a swim if you swim four times a week).

At most municipal pools, according to Mr. Barr, there is no single admission at all: you pay the seasonal fee or you don't swim.

Princeton's single admission fees were set high to encourage people to buy the season ticket, Mr. Barr says, adding that the Commission felt that 10-cent and 25-cent admission charges would be prohibitively expensive from the bookkeeping point of view.

Thank You, Mr. President?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In a short, terse reorganization meeting on February 16, the Borough Board of Education removed the gavel from the hands of Graham Rohrer. I am certain that the members of the board — being decent, honorable and dedicated citizens — felt this shameful act was one of necessity — not, as it appeared to many of us, simply symbolic of victory. To sugget otherwise is as downright indecent as the act itself

Unfortunately, in spite of thoughtful "thank you" speeches to Mr. Rohrer, freely admitting in effect

(1) the astronomical number of hours devoted by him to the welfare of Princeton Borough and Township students and to the tireless pursuit of business AS CHARGED TO THE BOARD BY THE BOROUGH;

(2) the personal sacrifice involved in such devotion;

(3) the implementation and accomplishment of assignments, both large and small (many of which it had been said could never be done), the only meaningful and significant thanks was withdrawn. It's the bitter with the sweet, Mr. Rohrer. Your cup runneth over.

"A Letter To Arouse."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

When I wrote my letter regarding the tragedy of the two young boys, TOWN TOPICS, February 10) I was hopeful that it might evoke some serious thought and I also was aware that there could be some shock waves — but I didn't realize it would provoke the gossamer sort of thinking which appears to prevail, at least as expressed in the past issue of TOWN TOPICS. However, controversial as it may be, out of this foment may come more positive action.

Possibly it wil help to provide some stimulus to activate the suggested courses of action which have been in the 'thought status' for several years. Why not an appeal to the University for equal rights to the lake, and for the establishment of a 'coffee-klatch' pavillon whereby parents and others could, in warmth and comfort, watch over the children? And perhaps a few lights installed for evening skating parties? This would be in the direction of community-minded activities.

In regard to very young intellectual 'explorers' and all that jazz about development — of course over-restraint, as well as lack of restraint, can be damaging. Perhaps it is the same with manners; some have and some haven't.

In any case I would refer those brilliant authors of exquisite critique to the first two pages of TOWN TOPICS, Feb. 17, which very clearly and honestly presents the problem, now facing parents (p-a-r-e-n-t-s) of this community, of older children who are considering further 'explorations.' Some of whom, whether of superior intelligence or of average standards, may already be on 'thin ice.'

I seriously question that my letter was as inhumane as the response indicated. If TOWN TOPICS will bear with me, I should like to 'lift' a few quotes from several of those replies; ". . . we should start thinking in terms of little boys, not money . . ." ". . . safeguard devices are expensive . . . but little boys are worth it . . ." Well, I must admit that is generous and humane. ". . . we need an adult responsible for every child on the ice . . ." It occurs to me that, substituting 'parent' for adult, I had written words to that effect.

". . . Mr. Webb's letter and advice was inappropriate . . . inexcusably cruel . . ." I thought it appropriate to write and send it in now rather than wait until July, or for still another similar tragedy; and "delicate" letters, because of their timidity, usually fail to accomplish very much.

I believe my letter contained truth and, as they say, it hurts; it was a letter to arouse people — not to lull them into complacency. A letter to make people think, to act.

I wrote the letter because I felt deeply the lose of two little boys, and contrary to superficial comments, I strongly share the sorrow and grief of their families. I too, have a seven-year old boy.

I am rather surprised that anyone, particularly in Princeton, which is endowed with liberal democratic processes, should ask for suppression of a letter. I am thankful to TOWN TOPICS — it is reassuring that freedom of speech and expression are granted in the American way.

LAND REQUEST MADE

For Student Lounge. In their appearance before the Joint Recreation Board this month, Rogers Carrington, executive director of Youth Associates (formerly Young Life) and Arthur Buckland, president of the student council at Princeton High School pursued their goal of the construction of a teenage student lounge on the site of the Community Park complex.

Their request to the Recreation Board was twofold: for land on which to locate the lounge and for the board to maintain and supervise it. The request was made in behalf of the teenagers of Princeton representing Princeton High School, the Hun School, Princeton Day School, Stuart School and Princeton Youth Associates.

Messrs. Carrington and Buckland came armed with new plans for a somewhat smaller lounge than the one they had outlined in previous months — down 5,000 square feet to 10,000 and some $30,000 less than the original estimate of $150,000 — and the backing of the Lions Club of Princeton which has expressed an interest in helping to raise the funds. Mr. Buckland reported that the Student Council had made formal application to the Lions for financial help.

The pair also presented the results of a teenage questionnaire concerning the location of the lounge. In all, 1370 students from the three schools answered the questionnaire, the overwhelming majority from PHS. At Hun, 23 members of the senior student council responded and about 100 from Princeton Day School.

STUDENT LOUNGE? The many problems of planning a Youth Center are being studied by the Joint Recreation Board, of which R. Donald Barr is director.

444 Said 'Yes'. At PHS, 515 students indicated they would use the lounge regardless of its location, 444 would if it it were in Community Park and 284 if it were on Nassau Street. One hundred sixty-six reported that they were not interested in the lounge.

Most (853) said that they would be willing to work for the lounge and 149 indicated they would "work hard regularly" for it. Roughly the same percentages were reflected by the PDS respondents, while all 23 Hun respondents said they would use a lounge at Community Park.

Recreation Director Donald Farr, however, challenged the results of the questionnaire. It had no validity, he said, because the questionnaire did not offer the teenagers a chance to check off Nassau Street as a preference. Those who did not check Community Park were given the opportunity to write in a location which they would prefer.

"I was hopeful of getting at a preference for a specific location" said Barr. "For example, that two-thirds preferred Nassau Street and one-third, Community Park." Though in agreement with Mr. Barr's point, Mr. Carrington added that he thought it would have come out in the questionnaire if an overwhelming number preferred Nassau Street.

In answer to a question from a board member if the Lounge would be used during the day, Mr. Buckland replied that the community would be able to use it when students were in school. He cited women's clubs as an example. He also said, in answer to another question, that grade school students from Valley Road and other schools would be welcome at certain times during the day.

Once built, the lounge could become largely self-supporting, Mr. Buckland pointed out. He gave as an example a teenage center in New Haven where its pool tables are rented out to students to help pay for its operation.

Are You For It? "What we're trying to find out from the board," said Mr. Carrington, "is, are you for it enough for us to think creatively about raising money. We hope in someway to go ahead on this, to give the kids something to go on without putting any financial burden on the board."

While interested, the Board was hesitant to commit itself. "We're up to our neck in capital expenditures" commented board member Mrs. Richard Schoch. "We're still on our maiden voyage, so to speak, with the pools and the tennis courts and we don't want to take on anything else that would jeopardize our completing those." In his request, Mr. Carrington had stated that the Recreation Board would be responsible for the salary of the lounge manager and for the maintenance and insurance of the building.)

"Even if you build it, there would be a lot of legal questions which would have to be ironed out," continued Mrs. Schoch. "What restrictions could this board accept on this? Who has the authority in its operation? Would the building have to be completely paid for? What proportion of the recreation budget is the board to allow for it and its operations?

The Board agreed that it would first study the requests of Mr. Buckland and Mr. Carrington and the results of the questionnaire and then check with its attorney, Gordon Griffin, Board member Harry Vedder summed up the present position of the board by saying: "We first have to build these tennis courts and pools; nothing can deter us from that."

MEETING SCHEDULED

Of Adult School Board. The annual meeting of the Princeton Adult School Board will be held at Princeton High School Tuesday at 8 p.m. The board notes that the school enjoyed its biggest registration during the fall and winter terms and invites the public to hear committee reports and to make suggestions for the curriculum.

Mrs. George McCluskey will submit the following slate of officers and board members: Mrs. Robert V. Dilley, chairman; Mrs. James Stretch, curriculum chairman; George Loos, treasurer; Mrs. Marshall Claggett, secretary; Leon DuRois, Mrs. George T. Geary, Robert Staples, board members to serve through 1967; Mrs. Elmer Alpert, Mrs. Salmon Bodtner, Mrs. James Johnson, Ledlie I. Laughlin, Miss Katherine Lyons, Archibald MacAllister, Mrs. Robert Serrell, board members to serve through 1968; Mrs. Leland Allen, Simon Mareson, Mrs. George McCluskey, Mrs. A. B. Shepherd, Mrs. John A. Hartigan, Mrs. Dwight O. North, board members to serve through 1969; Mrs. George F. Thomas, member ex-officio for life; Joseph Drulis, director ex-officio.

RIGHTS GROUP TO MEET

To Elect Officers. The Princeton Association for Human Rights will hold its annual meeting at the Quarry Street School, Monday at 8:15 p.m. There will be brief reports on the year's activities, and members will vote for new officers and consider amendments to the by-laws.

The nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Fred Burrell, chairman; Mrs. Floyd Campbell, Mrs. Cary Peebles, Mrs. Mary Jackson and Isaiah Fisher, will present the following slate for 1966.

For president, John Counts; first vice-president, Seymour Alpert; second vice-president, Mrs. Elizabeth Chandler; secretary, Mrs. Frankie Hines; treasurer, George Geary.

For the executive committee: the Rev. Hugh Logan, Mrs. Estelle Johnson, Mrs. Cynthia Gooding, Howard Waxwood III, Leo Ledditz, Gordon Habel.

For the nominating committee: Mrs. David Hapgood, Henry Drewry, Isaiah Fisher, Mrs. Carol Taylor, Mrs. Caroline Adams, Mrs. Kathleen Edwards.

RIFLE CLUB FORMED

For Princeton Youngsters. More than 100 boys and girls from the Princeton area are taking part in activities of the Princeton Junior Rifle Club. The club, formed this winter, is sponsored by the Patrolman's Benevolent Association and the Citizens' Rifle and Revolver Club of New Jersey.

Members receive the basic small arms rifle course certified by the National Rifle Association which consists of safe weapon handling and range procedure. They compete every week for N.R.A. junior shooting qualifications which include diplomas, brassards and medals.

Question Of The Week

From what I've heard, you don't have to spend any money. You can just sit and talk with friends. Sort of a news place where you can go and hear all the latest talk. Other places you have to pay, I don't like that. The location doesn't bother me at all.

Joanne Feldman, 262 Jefferson Road, PHS sophomore: I think it would be a very good idea because so many teenagers in this town would appreciate a place to go like a student lounge. I know many of my friends would. For its size, while it may be difficult for some to get to, it couldn't be put in town. I'm sure everybody would rather have it in Community Park if that is the only place we can have something that big.

Jane Goldstrohm, Rocky Hill PHS freshman: I think it would be a pretty good place because they are going to have all kinds of recreation there and the location is okay because I live in Rocky Hill. If it does work out, it would be a good opportunity for kids to associate and get together.

How To Hold A Wine Tasting
No. 8 In A Series

The idea of a wine tasting may conjure up visions of a group of austere men in formal attire authoritatively sniffing and tasting venerable vintages in ritualistic fashion — hardly a pastime suitable for your next "cocktail" party. Nothing could be farther from the truth. A wine tasting can be informal, simple and, most of all, it can be a lot of fun, marking you as an original and thoughtful host or hostess.

Like most things, there are a few rules which, if followed, will increase your enjoyment of the tasting and mark you as a knowledgeable wine judge by your guests.

First, how many wines should you offer and in what quantities? For a small group, say you and two other couples, five or six wines should suffice. For a dozen people, eight to ten wines would be excellent. Since the idea is to taste small amounts of a number of different wines each glass should contain about an ounce and a half only. In this way, a bottle will yield about sixteen samples.

Next, what wines should be served? Here the rule which you will almost always want to follow is not to mix reds and whites. You can find more enjoyment by staying within one category because your palate will be able to distinguish the subtle differences in grade and texture far better than if you try sharply contrasting types.

Also, it's wise to arrange your wines in certain ways for maximum appreciation and enjoyment. Taste the lighter wines first and then go to the heavier ones. Your understanding of wine will be greatly enhanced if you range your samples in ascending order of seniority. Thus you will be tasting the nobler vintages last and can compare their aroma and taste to that of their lesser cousins. Your comparisons can give you some idea why one wine will cost several dollars more than another.

Part of the fun of a wine tasting is the rating each wine receives. Ask your guests to assign a number to each wine and then you can see how much unanimity there is among your group. The most commonly accepted method is to rank the wines in the same fashion as a vintage chart — 0 to 7, with 7 being the highest rank. It's guaranteed to produce spirited debate and add immensely to the entire proceeding.

There can be no fixed rules as to specifically which wines you should serve or in what precise order they should be. But we are pleased to make several suggestions from wines which we now have in stock. We have restricted the groupings to fairly similar wines in each case, and have also included a California wine so you can compare it with the imported vintages of the same type.

To No One's Surprise: "In Cold Blood"

Truman Capote Is The Man this month in Princeton's book stores. Reports on January-February Best-sellers show a hundred-percent sweep for the "non-fiction novel." The Princeton Public Library has four public and three rental copies, and 23 reserves. Want to sign up?

NON-FICTION

"In Cold Blood," Truman Capote (University Store, Male's Book Shop, Public Library, Princeton Book Mart.)

"Reveille for a Radical," Saul Alinsky. (Witherspoon Art & Book.)

FICTION

"The Comedians," Graham Green. The celebrated iranist received mixed reviews. See for yourself. (University Store, Public Library, Princeton Book Mart.)

"The Hobbit" and the "Ring" books, J.R.R. Tolkien. These paperback fantasies are read by parents to children, by graduate students to one another, by tired businessmen to themselves. (Male's Book Shop).

"The Moonstone," Wilkie Collins. (Witherspoon Art & Book).

RECOMMENDED . . . .

"Your Income Tax," Enough said. (University Store).

"The Devil Image," Helen Mclane. Authentic local color (Poland, this time) and suspense. (Male's)

"The Waters Under the Earth," John Moore. A fine novel laid in our own day and told in the traditional manner. (Public Library.)

"Toward Lexington," John Shy. A Princeton author explores the role of the British army in the coming Revolutionary War. (Book Mart.)

and several certified N.R.A. instructors. The Patrolman's Benevolent Association underwrites the costs of weapons, ammunition and awards as part of its Youth Program. Range operation is a service of Princeton Boy Scout Troop 77.

The club will meet Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. until March 12. Besides practicing on the ranges, members see training films and hear lectures by professionals from various fields of shooting.

An advanced group of students who hold a sharpshooter or a higher badge has been formed and is coached by Ralph Mason, 265 Brookstone Drive, a certified N.R.A. instructor. The group hopes to compete locally with the ultimate goal of entering the New Jersey Junior Sectionals in March.

The club's instructors are Richard V. Steiner, William H. Bailey, Robert F. Westover, David G. Wilbur, Bonnie Carrzzai, Ralph Mason, all of Princeton; Jumonville Walter Domorod of Mercerville.

SCOUT AWARD PRESENTED

To Richard Keizer. At the annual banquet of Boy Scout Troop 88 at the Princeton Methodist Church, Richard Keizer, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Keizer, 732 Kingston Road, was presented with an Eagle Scout Award, scouting's highest rank.

Richard has been with Troop 88 since he became a Cub Scout at the age of 8. The last scout in Troop 88 to earn an Eagle Award was Richard's brother, Alan, who received his Eagle badge in 1959.

Other scouts who received advanced recognition were: Douglas Bayern, Star Scout; Bruce Alexander, three merit badges; Mark Bayern, two merit badges; Bob Curtin and David Groupe, First Class badges; Steve Alexander, Second Class badge. Inducted as Tenderfoot Scouts were Davis Carver, Peter and Steve Foltiny, Larry Kern, Jeff Shays and Tom O'Conner.

TOUR PLANNED

By Alumnae Clubs. The Mount Holyoke and Radcliffe Alumnae Clubs are completing plans for the tenth biennial "Open House In Princeton" tour to be held Saturday, May 14.

The tour committee includes: Mrs. Walter Kaufman, general chairman; Mrs. John W. Tukey, houses; Mrs. George F. Thomas, brochure; Mrs. John W. Grasskamp, mailing; Mrs. Julian L. Moynahan, tickets; Mrs. Charles Ufford, treasurer; Mrs. William H. Cherry, supply; Mrs. Thomas Johnson, posters; Mrs. Paul von R. Schleyer, bus; Mrs. Thomas Page, patron; Mrs. Henry Zenzie, refreshments; and Mrs. Arthur Szathmary, publicity.

TEACHERS TO MEET

At Hun School. The Hun School will be host to the members of the English departments of the Boarding School Association of the Philadelphia Region this Thursday at an English colloquium.

English teachers from various schools will meet to discuss new developments in their field. After a luncheon, John A. Myers Jr., chairman of English, at Hun, will give a talk on "Poetry and Grammar."

BOOKLET AVAILABLE

For Recording Tips. Waitresses, bellmen, taxi drivers and others who receive tips may want a copy of the Internal Revenue Service's new booklet. The booklet provides a daily record of tips and contains detachable forms to submit to employers each month.

New amendments to the social security law require workers to report tips amounting to more than $20 a month to their employers before the tenth of the month following. The tips count toward social security benefits.

The booklet and extra forms are now available from the office of the District Director of Internal Revenue, 401 East State Street, Trenton.

FIGHT MEASLES

Have Child Immunized. Parents should have their children immunized against measles, especially if the children are under 12, and most particularly if the children are under 6.

Dr. Roscoe P. Kandle, State Commissioner of Health, urged measles immunization this week in a letter sent to all health officers.

Measles vaccine can be given by any private physician. It is given automatically to all infants and pre-school children who go to the "Keep Well" station and, for parents who cannot afford the cost, it is available at the pediatrics clinic at Princeton Hospital.

OFFICERS ELECTED

By Animal Rescue League. At the annual meeting of the Small Animal Rescue League, the following were elected officers: Mrs. Stuart V. Willson, president; Mrs. J. H. Mathey, first vice-president; Mrs. Hamilton Cottier, second vice-president; Mrs. T. Burnet Fisher, secretary; William A. Caffrey, treasurer.

Members of the Board of Trustees are Dean Jeremiah Finch, Dean William E. Lippincott, Mrs. R. Stuyvesant Pierrepont, Mrs. G. Alfred Olcott, Mrs. A.V.S. Olcott, Mrs. Frank F. Mountcastle, Mrs. William Koren, Mrs. Elwood W. Godfrey and Mrs. A. S. Wilson.

MEMBERS SOUGHT

By Counter Intelligence. Members of the Counter Intelligence Corps, U.S. Army, are trying to locate former members of the C.I.C. A New Jersey chapter of the national C.I.C. association was recently established under president Andrew Shumack.

The national association was organized following World War II with headquarters in Baltimore. The New Jersey chapter will meet four times a year throughout the state and present programs of mutual interest to members.

Mr. Shumack has asked that any interested former C.I.C.

When no one can get to work . . . an amazing number of telephone operators do.

They'll walk for miles when nothing on wheels can move.

Why do they do it?

Because they know they're needed. They know the whole community is depending on them for telephone service. Especially in times of emergency.

At the phone company, we call their attitude the "spirit of service." Maybe it sounds old-fashioned. But it's real. And we're proud of it. Just as we're proud of all the operators who help make your telephone service something that you can always rely on.

TIGERS DOG BULLDOGS: Ed Fessenden, Yale goalie, blocks shot in first period as Bert Bruser (8) and Captain Buss Hall close in on him. A second or two later, Hall flicked the puck into the cage for Princeton's seventh goal in unprecedented eight-goal period. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Bob Matthews).

SPORTS In Princeton

HOCKEY HISTORY MADE

With Eight-Goal Period. In the 45 years since hockey was first played in Baker Rink, no team has ever scored eight goals in a single period. Princeton did so against Yale on Saturday to continue the admittedly spasmodic but nonetheless highly impressive rejuvenation of the sport that has been fashioned here in the first season under Coach John Wilson.

The resurgence has been spotty, because even with their major achievements, the Tigers are quite unlikely to top the .500 mark for the year. Their record is now 6-9-1, and it is difficult to see how they can win more than one of their remaining games with Brown, Harvard and Cornell.

They are, however, still in second place in the Ivy League, and last week they added the near-fantastic first period against the Elis to such major accomplishments as the December victory over defending champion Brown and the first triumph in 13 years over Harvard. Among the incredible statistics of the opening round against Yale was the fact that when the clock showed the Tigers leading, 8-1, with 28 seconds to go, they had played six of the first 20 minutes a man short. Three penalties had been called against them to none for the visitors.

Best of the day's noteworthy achievements was a hat trick credited to forward Steve Cook, who beat Yale goalie Ed Fessenden three times in the first five and a half minutes. Before the afternoon was over, another senior, Mike Peterman, also had three goals to his credit, two of them made possible by assists from brother Terry.

Game Not a Rout. Defensive difficulties which the Tigers created for themselves in the second period kept the Elis from being badly beaten. They erased a major portion of their early deficit with a five-goal outburst, trailing only by 9-6 when the round ended. Each team scored once more in the last period to make it a 10-7 final.

The victory over Yale continued Princeton's mastery of the Blue in Baker Rink. Even Tiger teams which floundered badly in the cellar have managed to trim the Elis here continuously since 1959, making Saturday's triumph the eighth in a row for the Orange and Black on home ice.

It is considerably longer since Princeton achieved double figures in a hockey game with Yale The last time this occurred was the 12-1 victory in 1939.

This weekend, at Providence, Brown hopes to avenge the 6-5 defeat it suffered here in the first Ivy game Princeton played under Wilson. The Bruins are out of contention for the title they won a year ago but are still driving for a place in the ECAC playoffs and will be tough to beat on home ice.

The Tigers will travel to Cambridge to play Harvard next Wednesday, finishing in Baker Rink the following Saturday, March 5, against Cornell. The Ithacans lost to Harvard, 5-4, in overtime last week but have two games left in which to win their first league championship.

BASKETBALL ABOUT OVER

Tigers a Likely Fourth. Beaten in back-to-back Ivy contests in Dillon Gymnasium for the first time in eight years, Princeton's basketball team heads into its final three contests of the season with little likelihood of finishing better than fourth. Having lost to Cornell, 86-77, and Columbia, 62-59, in their last games at home, the Tigers will be underdogs by margins of 10 to 15 points in their road contests during the coming week at Ithaca, New York and Philadelphia.

The only team to win two games in last weekend's firing, Pennsylvania is the clear-cut choice to win its first championship since 1953. The Quakers must play their next two games away from home, but to earn at least a tie, need only one victory in the last three games on their schedule.

To the sorrow of its followers, Princeton lost both games last weekend after holding the lead at halftime. Neither margin was much (41-38 over Cornell and 34-32 over Columbia), but the Tigers had the initiative and could not follow through on their own court.

This was particularly so in the game against the Ithacans, in which they trailed by as much as 13 points — 36 to 23 — at the 15-minute mark and then staged a tremendous rally to forge ahead. In the final four minutes and 37 seconds of the first half, they poured in 18 points while holding the visitors to 2.

Tide Falls to Turn. Four minutes into the second period, Cornell's 6-7 center, Steve Cram, fouled out and since he had been the Red's principal scorer with 14 points in the first half, his departure seemed to signal eventual success for Princeton. The game went the other way largely because no one on the Tiger quintet could handle Bob DeLuca, the Cornell captain hitting for 25 points in the final half after making only five in the first 20 minutes.

Princeton, meanwhile tailed off in its shooting ability and was frequently forced into errors by an effective all-court press used by the victors. Ed Hummer's 26 points, a career high, and good foul line work that saw 17 of 20 free throws converted were all that kept the Tigers in the ball game.

Next night, Columbia duplicated Cornell's second-half rally when none of the Tigers' tall men — Bobby Brown, Ed Hummer or John Haarlow — could contain seven-foot Dave Newmark as the Lions' soph more center. He hit for 28 points, and Hummer fouled out early in the second half in an attempt to guard him.

The Light Blue held the lead during most of the final period, with the Tigers' efforts at catch-up ball largely unavailing. It was Columbia's first victory in Dillon Gym in ten years.

SWIMMERS FACE YALE

Olympic Star on Team. Don Schollander, who won four Olympic gold medals while competing for the United States before he was a freshman at Yale, will make his first appearance Saturday night at 8 in Dillon Pool. His speciality is the freestyle.

The Eli star's eligibility at mid-year makes the Blue a strong favorite to snap Princeton's nine 11-and-0 record. Having gone to Tokyo in the fall of 1964, Schollander did not enter Yale until last February and hence did not begin his sophomore year until this month.

Army, on the Yale schedule before Schollander became eligible, defeated the Blue and, with Princeton, remains at the top of the league standings with a perfect 6-0 record. Since Yale is likely to win here Saturday, the outcome of the 1966 race will depend on the Tigers' meet with Army at West Point the following weekend.

Princeton's 11th victory of the season was recorded Saturday against Harvard at Cambridge, the Tigers turning in an impressive 55-49 decision over a team which also has an Olympic medal winner in Nevel Hayes, butterfly artist. Four Princeton records were set while the visitors were winning seven of the 11 events.

Among the major Princetun accomplishments was ability to set a Harvard pool record with a time of 3:40.7 in the 40-yard medley relay. Interestingly, the mark is short of the Princeton record in the event, but it is the fastest ever set at Cambridge, where some fine Harvard and Yale teams have swum in the last few years.

The Tigers' first, the meet well in hand before the final event, but were by no means ready to let up. The quartet entered in the 400-yard freestyle relay chopped a full two seconds off the existing Princeton mark, shaving it all the way down to 3:14.3.

WRESTLERS BEATEN

By Harvard, 22 to 11. Ahead by 8 to 5 after a 2-1 victory in the 145-lb. class, Princeton's wrestling team could not match Harvard's strength in the heavier weights and lost Saturday in Dillon Gym, 22 to 11. The Tigers won three bouts and tied a fourth.

Yale at New Haven on Saturday and Cornell here on March 5 are the remaining matches on the schedule. The record is currently 7-5, one of the best compiled in the sport here in a number of years.

SLOW DOWN FAILS

PHS in Finale Friday. No one has been able to run with Hamilton this year and win. Friday, PHS coach Tony Borzak tried the opposite tack against the visiting Hornets — a slowdown — but his strategy misfired when the Little Tigers succeeded only in slowing down themselves.

PHS scored four points in the first eight minutes of play, and nine in the second, while Hamilton was collecting 12 and 16. In the second half the tempo picked up. The Blue and White outscored the class of Mercer County, 23-21, in the third period but at the final buzzer it still was behind by 67-52.

Hamilton Wins 17th. PHS lost little of its prestige, admittedly somewhat tottering, in losing to Hamilton, which captured its 10th straight and 17th in 19 starts. In fact, Borzok's slow down tactics represented a degree of improvement. Friday's 15-point deficit was seven better than the 79-57 margin recorded by Hamilton when the two teams first met this season.

Although the defeat was not unexpected by PHS followers, the failure of Wilbur Hines to reach the 1,000-point career mark probably was. Scratchy needed only 12 points into the contest — well below his average — and he seemed a shoo-in to attain it.

Unfortunately, Hines was thwarted by the slow down of his own team and by some tight and effective guarding by Hamilton's Gary Van Camp. As a result, Wilbur was held to eight points — his lowest output in two years.

High scorer for the losers were Tom Wood with 16, followed by Ken Lyons, 12, and Ed McEwen, 10. Billy McQuaddle netted six as these five accounted for all of the Little Tigers' points.

THREE FINISH FOURTH

In District Wrestling. Three Princeton High School wrestlers finished in fourth place in the district wrestling matches held Friday and Saturday at Flemington High School. In all, eight schools participated.

Hank Wilkinson, 115-pound class; Fred Hutson, 123-pound, and Joe Harding, 168-pound, all captured fourth place for Princeton High. Two other Little Tiger matmen, Steve Fox, 95-pounder, and Ross Bayer, 136-pound, were also entered by coach Tom Murray.

Wilkinson dominated his match but was reversed in the closing seconds to lose 6-4. Both Hutson and Harding took automatic fourths when Hutson became sick and Harding injured his arm. Neither was able to compete in the consolation round.

Fox had the misfortune to draw the defending state champion as his opponent in his first match, and Stu Bell, 148-pounder, was forced to miss the entire event because of flu. "All in all," commented Murray, "we didn't do too badly, considering the competition."

In its final match of the season, PHS defeated a jayvee squad from Hun School last week, 33 to 11. Stu Bell registered his fourth consecutive pin for the victors. Bayer and Hutson also recorded falls. PHS ended with a 9-3 record.

Next year, PHS will compete on a varsity as well as a junior varsity level, this, its initial season, the Blue and White did not wrestle varsity squads. "We're going right into the thick of it, win, lose or draw," said Murray.

GYMNAST TO PERFORM

Olympic Star Here. Muriel Grossfeld, Olympic gymnast, will present a program of gymnastic next Monday from 7 to 9 p.m. at Princeton High School. The program has been planned for women physical education instructors throughout the state.

Miss Grossfield was National AAU floor exercise champion for eight years and All-American for nine years. In 1961, in competitions in Czechoslovakia, Poland and Russia, she defeated the Olympic floor exercise champion, Larissa Latynina. She was on the world championship team in 1962 and the Pan American team in 1963.

GOLF CLINICS PLANNED

At Princeton Country Club. Neil McHugh will conduct a free indoor golf clinic at the Princeton Country Club for five weeks starting in March.

McHugh, a native Princetonian, has been an assistant pro at several New Jersey country clubs. Before taking over duties at the club in West Windsor Township, he was pro-greenskeeper for 17 years at Grover City Country Club in Pennsylvania.

The adult clinic is from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., Tuesdays for beginners starting next week, and Thursdays for intermediate players starting March 3. The 58 to 41 junior clinic is on Saturday mornings starting March 5, from 9:30 to 10:30 for beginners, from 10:30 to 11:30 for intermediate players. Participants must wear rubber-soled shoes and supply their own clubs.

HUN UPSETS PERKIOMEN

Finale Saturday. For Hun last week it was, to paraphrase Charles Dickens, the best of games and the worst of games.

On Saturday, playing what seeded Lawrenceville (15-1) as Hun coach Dave Leete termed "our best game of the year" the Red and Black upset first-place Perkiomen, 63-46. Earlier in the week, Hun was unable to take the measure of last place Bryn Athyn, losing, 58 to 41.

Hun will play its final game of the season Saturday when it hosts Blair Academy Saturday at the Seminary gymnasium. Tapoff for the non-league encounter has been set for 2:30, but Leete reported the contest was still "tentative".

Hun was scheduled to participate in the annual Prep School tourney Wednesday for independent schools where it had the misfortune to draw top seeded Lawrenceville.

Kazmaier in Hall of Fame

Dick Kazmaier, two-time All-American and Heisman Trophy winner in 1951, has been elected to the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

He was one of nine players of the modern era to be honored this week, the others including such names as Sleepy Jim Crowley, one of Notre Dame's "Four Horsemen"; Albie Booth of Yale; Charlie Conerly of Mississippi and Norm Van Brocklin of Oregon. Conerly and Van Brocklin later achieved top ranking in the NFL as quarterbacks with the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles.

While at Princeton, Kazmaier played tailback on the Tigers' unbeaten teams of 1950 and '51. He accounted for 20 touchdowns rushing, another 23 passing and completed 60% of his aerials while largely rewriting the Princeton record book.

Dashing new American out-accelerates Corvair, Falcon, Dart at Daytona! Chalks up 24.5 mpg, too!

And it's still the lowest-priced car made in the U.S.A.!*

Our '66 Rambler Americans are full of surprises.

Two of them just knocked off Corvair, Falcon, and Dart, finishing 1, 2 in the Class VI Acceleration Test in the NASCAR-supervised '66 Pure Oil Performance Trials. Proof of more power for safe passing.

How did American do it? With a surprising new Six. The biggest, newest, most powerful standard Six in its class. Yet the same car that won the Acceleration Test, posted a remarkable 24.5 mpg in the Economy Test. (And that was with automatic transmission!)

The Rambler American 220 two-door (shown below) still carries the lowest price of any U.S. car. And now during his "Big Win Weeks" celebration, your AmericanMotors/RamblerDealer is pricing his Americans lower than ever.

its first round opponent. The game was played at the Peddie gym.

In toppling Perkiomen, Hun continued to play its role as spoiler in the Penn-Jersey League. The defeat dropped Perkiomen into a first place tie with Pennington, a school also upended a week ago by Hun. Both Perkiomen and Pennington have 6-2 records. Hun is 5-0 in the league.

After taking a 10-14 lead in the first period against Perkiomen, Hun stunned its visitors by running up lop-sided 19-8, 18-4 advantages in the following two periods. High scoring Mike Miller and Jim MacLeod engineered the upset, producing 22 and 12 points.

Earlier, a complete reversal in form by Hun enabled Bryn Athyn to capture its third league victory. "It was our worst game and against a last-place team," commented Leete. "We just couldn't shoot."

Miller led all Hun scorers with 15. MacLeod was runner-up again with 11.

SUMMERALL TO SPEAK

At Hun School Dinner. Pat Summerall, sportscaster and former football star, will speak at the second annual Father-Son Sports Banquet at the Hun School, March 5.

Now with the Columbia Broadcasting System, Summerall was considered one of the greatest kickers in the National League. During his 10 years of professional football, he missed only eight conversions and compiled a total of 567 points.

AWARDS PRESENTED

At YMCA Baseball Dinner. At the 16th annual YMCA Midget and Junior League Baseball Awards Banquet, awards were presented to the Palmer Square Giants as World Series champions; to the Princeton Kiwania Orioles as American League pennant winners, and to Bowers Construction Company, champions of the Junior League. YMCA president A.C. Reeves Hicks made the presentations.

A plaque was also given to Robert C. Decker, retiring baseball commissioner, who served the Y baseball program for 12 years, the last six as commissioner. Gilbert C. Turner was named his successor.

Also present were John Springer, YMCA physical director and baseball co-ordinator; Leonard Kraus, member of the baseball committee; former commissioner B. E. Bergesen Jr. and Larry Bearnarth, N.Y. Met pitcher and guest speaker.

MY DOG OBEYS

Does Yours? Top dogs will show what makes them top dogs at the ninth annual AKC-licensed Obedience Trial to be held by the Princeton Dog Training Club on Sunday, March 6, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Princeton High School.

Dogs will compete for such prizes as the Governor's and the Mayor's Challenge Trophies. The club has opened the Trial to the public ($1 for adults, 50c for children) and will serve refreshments. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

BOWLING NOTES

Dick Fowler Has 657. Dick Fowler came closest of anyone to a 700 series last week at the Princeton Recreation Lane. Rolling in the Three-Man Classic League, Dick posted scores of 196-235-226-657. Erich Weissenberger had a 164-244-214-622.

High single games were fashioned by Bud Fowler, 227; Guido Zinetti, 226; and Jack Lucey, 224. In team standings, Decker's Dairy leads with 47½ wins, followed by Johnson Electric (43) and Turney Motors (38½).

Ken Luck soared to 260 in one of his games, finishing with 640 in the Tri-County Firemen's League. Les Luck had just that in rolling a 201-214-533. Bill Davall recorded a 205-202.

Other fine scores: Bryce Rittenhouse, 236-191; Frank Stofko, 232; Bip Davison, 224; Frank Reading, 226; Wally Brown, 222; and Stanley Donald, 216.

Three teams are bunched for second place honors with 26 wins each — Princeton No. 1, Rocky Hill and K.P.D. to first is Mercer No. 3 with 30 wins.

The Tigers won the first half in the Blue Angels Hi-Y league by a comfortable margin, 12 wins in front of Triple C and Wildcats who tied for second with 40 wins apiece. In last place were the Sharks, two games back.

High individual scores were Brandon Stecchini's 173 and a 172 rolled by Ken Grob and Rich Volz. Volz captained the triumphant Tigers.

Rich Pinelli worked the pins for a 246 in the Nassau League, while Jim Shely combined a pair of 215s with a 172 for a 602 series. Al Spencer had a 225 and Gib Ireland and Val Ranallo both 222.

Team standings find Grover Lumber on top with 30 wins, trailed by Brophy, 26, and Italian A.S.C. 24. Princeton Elks and First Aid are knotted at 22.

In the Princeton B League, Bill Parke started strong by rolling a 245 in his first game but he dropped off to 182-173 to finish with an even 600 series. There were 17 other single games in the 200 or over bracket, led by Rudy Lehnert's 227. Jack Lucey and Frank Cawley had 225, Frank Delneso, 221 and Val Fowler, 213-221.

The leader in the standings — Ivy Inn with 26 wins — found itself being pressed by Renwick's (22) and Balestrieri and Nassau Del (both 20).

Top performances in the Women's Business League were those of Helen Tamasi, 221-212-568 and Marilyn Sylvester 210-519. Pat Tatum claimed a 184, Sara Rose a 182 and Carol Lisi a 176. Mrs. Rose also converted the 3-7 split.

Nassau Conover has a two game lead over Irene's Day Nursery which enjoys the same margin over MacKenzie Realty and Thorne Pharmacy tied for third. Six teams are tied for fourth with four wins each.

HINES HITS 1,000

As PHS Trips Asbury. In a game as revealing as litmus paper, Princeton High School defeated visiting Asbury Park Tuesday night, 69-60, but the biggest news of all was Wilbur Hines. For the second time in 13 years, PHS can claim a player who has reached a plateau not often attained in high school ball—the 1,000-point career-mark.

Wilbur needed only four. When he got them early in the first quarter, the game was halted and he was presented with the ball. Not since 1953, when Marvin Trotman scored over 1,000 points, has a Little Tiger scored more.

The lithe, 5-10, 155-pound senior went on to make 16 more to finish with 20. This raised his season's output to 402 in 20 games, third highest among all high school players in Mercer County.

Under the basket and in driving in for layups, Hines could call upon a variety of moves. His fluid play was enjoyable to watch. He was accurate with a one-handed push shot which he often let fly on the run. Despite his height, he led the team in rebounds on occasion and more often in assists. His imminent departure from the court will mark the end of a fine and colorful career and the creation of a gap that Coach Tony Borzok will find hard to fill. "Scratchy" will be missed.

Winning Season Assured. The evening was highly satisfying to the Blue and White for other reasons as well. PHS raised its record to 11-9 and thus assured itself of a winning season, no matter what happens in Friday's finale with Franklin Township.

Further, this marks Princeton's second triumph this season over Asbury. And since the two schools will meet next Thursday in an opening round NJSIAA battle, there is every reason now to expect PHS to continue its mastery over the Blue Bishops and advance to the second round in the state tourney.

The Little Tigers were never headed. They outscored the visitors in every period but the last. They built their victory on an effective fast break attack and a 27 for 40 completion from the court.

Tom Wood was the second half of Princeton's one-two punch, scoring 22 points. Ed McEwen collected 13 more and Ken Lyons and Bill McQuade added 8 and 6 to round out all the Princeton offense. Asbury's Tom Smith led all scorers with 23.

NJSIAA DATES SET

PHS to Play March 3. Princeton High School will be one of two area teams to see action next Thursday in the NJSIAA state tourney, the first day of the annual event which will end with the state championship battles March 25-26 at the Atlantic City Convention Hall. Steinert High is the other.

Princeton will meet its opening round opponent — Asbury Park — next Thursday evening at 8 at the Freehold High School gymnasium. The winner of this match will then play Neptune March 9 at 8 p.m. at the Asbury Park Convention Hall.

In all, 19 area teams will seek action in the tourney, while 184 from all over the state will be vying for the seven division titles at stake. Princeton High completes in the Southern Jersey, Group 4 division.

ST. PAUL'S WINS PAIR

On Maguire's Shooting. The Mississippi may be blocked by ice but St. Paul's School rolls on.

Led by the sharpshooting of its captain, Mike Maguire, the Princeton grammer school basketball team defeated Cathedral, 30-17, Saturday in a CYO league game, and stopped Pennington School, 30-17, in a rematch earlier in the week. The twin killing raised its record to a sparking 24-3 count.

Against Cathedral, St. Paul's led 22-2 at the half. Maguire scored 12 points — low for him — but he received help from Harry Norton, 8; Bob Sweeney, 4; and Kevin Geoghan and Mickey Chapuk, 3 each.

Against Pennington, however, Maguire dominated the play by scoring 28 of St. Paul's 30 points. Paul Zubek was high for the losers with 8.

FILM CENTER HAS LEAD

In Industrial League. In the showdown battle for first place in the YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball League last week, Film Center tripped ETS, with which it had shared the top spot, 67 to 48.

Two players reached their high for the season in the all-important battle, Tony Boccanfuso hitting for 34 for Film Center and Paul Harmon netting 33 for ETS.

Still on the march, RCA defeated Western Electric, 47 to 40, in the second game, as scrambling Bill Cruse was outstanding for RCA. A bearcat both on offense and defense, he made 16 points to lead all RCA scorers. Wendell McPhee of WE was the game's top scorer with 18.

Hospital's Ed Riddick set the season's record for most points in one game — 39 — but it wasn't enough to prevent a 54-51 victory by Van Nostrand. Tom Cramp and Charlie Cirullo were high for Van Nostrand with 15 and 13 points.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Film Center	10	2	.833
ETS	9	3	.750
Western Elec.	8	4	.667
RCA	4	8	.333
Van Nostrand	3	9	.250
Hospital	2	10	.167

MISSING COIN HOLDERS?

Police Want To Know. The Borough police have in their possession a number of three-inch, protective cardboard coinholders which are used by coin collectors. "What we want to know is who owns them," said Lt. Francis Maguire.

The coinholders appear to be part of a child's collection and police are interested in finding their owner because they believe they are part of the haul of a breaking and entering.

The partial trail involves the Charles Draine real estate office, which was entered last week; a doctor's office at the Medical Arts Building and the cafeteria of the New South building on campus near the railroad station. Anyone missing coinholders is asked to call the Borough police.

MEMBERS SOUGHT

By Conservative Group. The Mercer County chapter of Young Americans for Freedom is opening its 1966 membership drive Mrs. Marie Faughnan, 11 Coleridge Avenue, Trenton, membership chairman, noting the success of the recent pro-Viet Nam teach-in at Princeton University, said she thought the group could greatly expand its membership.

TALENT? HUGE!

Ogdon to Play... huge pianist with a huge talent" is the phrase used to describe John Ogdon by the New York Herald Tribune critic after Mr. Ogdon made his Carnegie Hall debut.

The English pianist will appear in McCarter next Monday at 8:30 as the fourth artist in the Princeton University Concerts' Series I. The house is sold out by subscription, but standing room will be sold starting at 7:30.

John Ogdon

For his Princeton appearance, Mr. Ogdon will play Bach's Partita No. 1, the Mozart Sonata in A minor, K. 310, Chopin's Scherzo in C sharp minor, Three Pieces by Alexander Goehr, Sonata No. 1 by Michael Tippett and his own "Sonatina."

The last three works will be heard for the first time in Princeton.

Mr. Ogdon shared the first prize with Vadimir Ashkenazy, the noted Russian pianist in the 1962 Tschaikowsky International Piano Competition. Since that triumph in Moscow, he has toured Europe, including the Soviet Union, and has played in many cities in North America.

STUDENTS READY

With University Orchestra, Music from their own time will be played by the young musicians of the Princeton University Orchestra for their second concert of the season on Sunday, March 6 at 2:30 in Alexander Hall.

Nicholas Harsanyi will conduct the orchestra in Walter Piston's "Serenata" and Dmitri Kabalevsky's suite from "The Comedians." Then, from the classic repertoire, the orchestra will perform the Mozart Piano Concerto in B Flat Major, K. 595, with Victor Rosenbaum, as soloist.

Mr. Rosenbaum, a graduate student in music and assistant conductor of the orchestra, has played with the Boston "Pops" and with the Indianapolis Symphony. Last summer, he conducted at the Indian Hills Arts Workshop, Stockbridge, Mass.

FOLK SINGER TO APPEAR

At Coffee House. Betty Ann Steck, folk and ballad singer, will appear Friday and Saturday at The Next Door, a coffee house for young adults.

Miss Steck, a native Princetonian, has sung at the New York World's Fair and participated in the Princeton Music Society's concert at Fort Dix.

"The Next Door" is on the lower level of the First Presbyterian Church. There is no admission fee, and dress is informal.

It opens at 9:30 p.m., and performances are scheduled for 10:30 and 12.

JUG BAND TO PLAY

At Alexander Hall. The Jim Kweskin Jug Band will give a concert Saturday, March 5, at 8:30 p.m. at Princeton University's Alexander Hall. The band plays a variety of tunes on instruments ranging from guitars to kazoos, jugs and washboards.

Jim Kweskin, leader of the band, plays guitar, banjo, kazoo and comb. Maria D'Amato, known for her version of "I'm a Woman," plays the fiddle and kazoo. Fritz Richmond is a specialist on the jug, tuned pipe and washtub bass. The other three members play the harmonica, the banjo and the washboard.

The concert is being presented by the Arts at Princeton, a non-profit organization. Tickets may be purchased at the Princeton University Store, Princeton Music Center, Farrington's Music Center or by writing Arts at Princeton, 48 University Place.

CONCERT PLANNED

As Memorial. A concert in memory of the composer-pianist, Erich Itor Kahn, formerly with the department of music at Princeton University, will be given Sunday at 3:30 in Richardson Auditorium in Alexander Hall.

The Friends of Music at Princeton have planned a program of works by Elliott Carter, Edward Kraucman, Victor Babin and Erich Itor Kahn.

The concert will be the occasion of first performances of Carter's Sonata for Violoncello and Piano and Kahn's "Two Psalms," "Trois Chansons Populaires," and "Ciaccona dei tempi di guerra."

Kahn is remembered by Princeton music-lovers as pianist with the Albeneri Trio and the Bach Aria Group. Performers at Sunday's concert will be Lorin Bernsohn, cello; Shirley Sudock, soprano and Howard Lebow, piano.

TO GIVE HUMPERDINCK

In March, "Hansel and Gretel" will be given in full, with sets and costumes, by the Princeton Opera Association on Saturday, March 19, at 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Princeton High School. Tickets, at $1 each, are on sale at Male's Book Shop and the University Store.

Dancers from the Princeton Ballet Society will appear in the "Fourteen Angels Ballet" and 18 Princeton boys and girls, from eight to 14 years of age, will be "cookies."

Because the Association plans to give "Hansel and Gretel" four times in New Brunswick and also in Trenton, three casts have been chosen.

For the Princeton performances, Deborah Trusel and Keitha Needham will be Gretel and Noreen Barnes and Mary Alice Witte will be Hansel. Witches, for Princeton, will be Virginia Cole and Edith Wilson.

Igor Chichagov, Artistic Director of the Princeton Opera Association, will direct.

cludes members of both political parties.

In the first year, the group has collected clothing for children of Cuban refugees living in New Jersey, circulated a presence in Viet Nam, and entertained the Viet Nam teachin. Further information may be obtained from Mrs Faughan by telephoning 584-5314.

GOT ANY BONES?

Fossils Welcome, Too. Children with bones, fossils, stuffed animals, dinosaurs or related objects are invited to bring them to the Princeton Junior Museum in Borough Hall for a spring exhibit on animal evolution and adaptation.

Contributions will be accepted this Saturday and Sunday, and boys and girls may sign up for field trips and workshops on paleontology and animal study at the same time.

Anyone bringing fossils or not bringing fossils, is invited to stay on Sunday for a Folk Song Singalong at 2 with members of the Princeton Folk Society under Art Miller.

Singers will be Lee Dratfield, Arlene Miller, Nancy Nicolaysen, Jerome Singer, Betty Ann Steck and Mimi Van Zelowitz and anybody in the audience who wants to joint them.

The Singalong is an extension of the Sunday afternoon Family programs, which have been so successful that the Museum has decided to continue them into late February, March and April.

On Sunday, March 20, the Museum will visit the New School for Music Study, 353 Nassau, for a program on "How Composers Make Music" with David Kraehenbuhl.

The following Saturday, March 26, at a time to be announced, Richard Chronister of the New School faculty, will show boys and girls "How to Make Music Yourself." The program, to which parents are invited, is designed for children who are not taking music lessons.

On Sunday, March 27, Frank Shallcross of the Amateur Astronomers Association, will hold a workshop at 2:15 p.m. on the astronomical telescope followed by a demonstration at 8. Children age 10 and over, may sign up at the Museum.

BROWN ALUMNI ELECTED

From Princeton. Two Princeton residents were elected officers of the Brown University Club of Trenton at its last business meeting. Dr. Lincoln Ekstrom, 78 Westerly Road, will serve as club president and Roger L. Campbell, 84 North Stanworth Drive, will be secretary.

Among those selected to serve on the Board of Governors were Edward L. Herrick and Leslie T. Fagan of Lawrenceville, and retiring president Walter P. Jackson of Pennington.

Varsity soccer and lacrosse coach Clifford Stevenson was guest speaker at the meeting, held at Princeton's Holiday Inn.

News Of The CHURCHES

SPECIAL SERVICES SET

By United Church Women. The annual World Day of Prayer will be observed this Friday in 125 countries. Princeton services, sponsored by the United Church Women, are scheduled for 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. at Trinity Church. Mrs. A. Roland Main is in charge of arrangements.

The service this year, based on the theme "You Are My Witnesses" was prepared by women of the World Day Prayer Committee of Scotland. According to Mrs. Main, "The same order of service, translated into many different languages, is used in all parts of the globe. This provides a unique opportunity for a deep experience of Christian unity in prayer with Christians all over the world."

Leaders of the morning service will be Mrs. Albert D. Tyson of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church, UCW president; Mrs. Leon Gibson, Princeton Methodist Church; Mrs. William R. White, All Saints' Chapel; Mrs. F. Hugh Liffiton, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Robert Westover, Calvary Baptist Church, and Mrs. Homer Jones, First Presbyterian Church.

Taking part in the evening program will be Mrs. Kenneth Foreman, a missionary from Korea; Mrs. George Thomas, Trinity; Miss Maxine Beagles, First Baptist; Mrs. John F. Baumunk, Princeton Methodist; Mrs. William J. B. Stokes II, Society of Friends, and Mrs. Simeon Moss, Witherspoon Presbyterian.

All members of the Princeton community are invited to attend.

Lenten Series

The annual Thursday noon-day Lenten services at First Presbyterian Church begin this week with the Rev. Albert D. Tyson of Mt. Pisgah AME Church giving the meditation. The series is sponsored for the first time by the Princeton Pastors' Association.

Worship is held from 12:10 to 12:30 p.m.; luncheon, at 65 cents, is served at 12:30 in the church dining room.

The schedule for the remainder of Lent:

March 3, Rev. John B. Paterson, First Presbyterian Church.

March 10, Rev. Luther Kriefall, Messiah Lutheran.

March 17, Rev. Harold A. Thomas, Witherspoon Church.

March 24, Rev. Charles G. Newbery, All Saints' Chapel, president of the Princeton Pastors' Association.

March 31, Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer, Calvary Baptist.

April 7, Rev. Ralph C. Chandler, First Presbyterian.

OFFER STUDY COURSES

At Princeton Churches. Calvary Baptist, Princeton Methodist and Trinity Episcopal Churches are planning adult study projects during Lent, drawing in many instances upon speakers from outside the community. Interested residents are welcome to attend.

This Sunday, an adult group at Calvary Baptist begins a six week's study unit based upon "The Secular City," a much-discussed book by Professor Harvey Cox of the Harvard Divinity School. The sessions are set for 10 a.m., under the leadership of Mrs. James E. McPherson, a former student of Dr. Cox.

At Trinity, three six-week courses begin next week. "The Scope of Christian Responsibility," a discussion of the world church, will be led by the Rev. C. Judson Child, chairman of the Mutual Responsibility and Interdependence (MRI) Commission in the Newark diocese. He has recently been commissioned to observe and share in the work of the Episcopal church throughout the world.

"Our Responsibility in the Parish" will be discussed by the Rev. Robert R. Spears Jr., rector. Topics include "The Parish Under Fire, Finding the Way and The Days Ahead." These classes will meet at 8.15 p.m. on Tuesdays, beginning March 1.

On Wednesdays at Trinity, the Rev. Donald A. Griesmann, rector of St. John's Church, Camden, will discuss renewal of the urban church, specifically commenting upon the Camden situation. Deadline for registration is this Friday.

The University of Life series begins at Princeton Methodist Church on March 6. "Who Speaks for Methodism on Social Action" is the theme. Allen Brockway, editor of "Concern" magazine and a member of the general board of Christian Social Concerns will discuss at the first meeting, "The Evolution of the Methodist Position on Social Affairs."

On March 13, Paul Schrading, secretary of the Christian Social Concerns Board, Pittsburgh, will discuss, "Shaping the Christian Conscience: the Methodist Social Creed." On May 8, U.S. Senator George McGoven of South Dakota, will speak on the topic, "The Gospel of Love in the World of Power."

The Methodist sessions will be preceeded by 5:30 p.m. supper.

SPONSOR CLOTHING DRIVE

At Rosedale Chapel. The Board of Deacons of Rosedale Chapel is conducting a used clothing drive through March 7. Items needed include clothing and shoes for all ages, all sizes, for all seasons for adults and children. The drive is in response to an appeal of needy families within the Presbyterian congregations in Portugal.

Members of the administering committee assisting the Rev. Samuel S. Rizzo, pastor, are Mrs. Mildred Stone, Miss Ruth Stout and Mrs. Samuel Rizzo. Donations may be left at the Chapel, Carter Road near Rosedale Road, weekdays before noon and on Saturdays before 2:30 p.m.

Arrangements for pick-up by calling Detlev Kemp (024-6031) or Cole Ownsby (882-6017) during evenings.

WSCS TO MEET

At Princeton Methodist. "Journey Since the 1964 General Conference" will be discussed by Mrs. Donald Almy and the Eicher Circle at the 8 p.m. meeting next Thursday, March 3, of the Women's Society of Christian Service at Princeton Methodist Church. Members of the Asbury Methodist Church, Trenton, will be guests.

Participants will include Mrs. A. E. Hicks, Mrs. William D. Jones, Mrs. Warren Kauffman, Mrs. Henry Johnson and Mrs. Hazel Benjamin. Mrs. Harvey Hook, WSCS president, will conduct a brief business session. Hostesses will be members of the executive committee.

PLAN LENTEN SERIES

At Princeton Methodist. A service of worship, combining sermon and Holy Communion, will be held at 8 p.m. each Wednesday during Lent at Princeton Methodist Church. During Holy Week, the service is scheduled for Maundy Thursday.

The Ash Wednesday and Maundy Thursday services will be led by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Leon W. Gibson. Other clergymen who will take part are: (March 2) Richard H. Thomas, Wesley Foundation chaplain at Princeton University; (March 9) John Paolini, a missionary; (March 16) Joel Nystrom; (March 23) Jackson W. Carroll, Methodist chaplain at Duke University; and (March 30) Paul E. Schrading, chaplain at the University of Pittsburgh.

FORM YOUTH ASSOCIATES

From "Young" Life. One of Princeton's most dynamic youth groups, Young Life, has changed its name to Youth Associates and allied itself with the Presbyterian Synod of New Brunswick.

According to Rogers Carrington, who revived Young Life in Princeton in the fall of 1961, the change was made "in order that we could come up with a new concept of dealing with teenagers. The central core of Young Life becomes part of the new organization."

As Young Life, the organization has drawn as many as 35 teenagers from the high school to its weekly meetings. Mr. Carrington, a graduate of Princeton Seminary, and his wife, Loy Ann, have reached many teenagers who go to no church at all or who are in different church members. "They present in a rather unique way, what Christ can do for young people," the Rev. Edward H. Morgan of Westerly Road Church commented at one time.

According to Mr. Carrington, Youth Associates has been freed by its sponsors to work in an ecumenical way. Its board of directors includes Presbyterian and Episcopalian clergy so far, and the hope is to include a Roman Catholic clergyman. "There is a need for the churches to join together," he said, "straight across the denominational board . . . There is so much that can't be done if we're all in different camps."

BULLETIN NOTES

Pew Service. First Baptist Church will sponsor a pew service at 3:30 this Sunday. The Rev. E. A. Davis of Friendship Baptist Church, Trenton, is the speaker. Music will be provided by the choirs of the Trenton Church.

Unitarian Speaker. J. Howard Middleton Jr. will give the sermon at 11 this Sunday in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road and Route 206. His topic is "God's Silent Servant-Death."

Conference Events. The Biennial Religious Conference, sponsored by the Student Christian Association of Princeton University, continues this week. Events include a lecture, "Christ as a Tragic Hero," by Professor Sherman H. Hawkins of the University of Rochester, at 7:45 p.m. this Thursday in 10 McCosh Hall. Tenor Roland Hayes will give "The Life of Christ in Negro Spirituals" at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 1, in Alexander Hall. The program is a cycle of traditional songs. On March 3, a "folk song mass", named "Rejoice" will be sung in Alexander Hall at 7:45 p.m. The service, which takes the form of a hootenanny, was created by students at General Theological Seminary in New York.

Epiphany Study. Members of the Princeton Christian Unity Committee are tabulating questionnaires completed by participants in the recent Epiphany Study. Results will be discussed at the March 7 meeting of the PCUC and reported to the Pastors' Association. Study co-sponsors, on March 9. Two of the neighborhood groups are continuing to hold weekly meetings. One will hear a speaker on missions at the next gathering; the other will discuss the Book of John; 13-16.

A SUNNY ONE-YEAR OLD

With a few years for aging this weathered, four bedroom, shingle Colonial will have a real New England look. It already has a happily lived in atmosphere and a bright sunny air. From the entrance hall one looks through the pretty dining room to a huge, curving flagstone terrace On the left is a lovely dropped living room with warm touches — a specially pretty mantel, bookshelves framing the windows at one end, a big bay window with built-in seat at the other. Beyond the efficient kitchen, eating area, laundry/lavatory and mud room is a handsome paneled family room with a big fireplace and doors to the terrace.

Add excellent closets, 2 full baths, a huge double garage and a natural woodsy setting enhanced by nice plantings, one and a half acres in a good township location. It all sums up to an exclusive listing of which we are proud — at a price of $65,000

How To Survive

There are more than 17,000,000 gardens in this country tended by homeowners dedicated to keeping the insect population down. To avoid keeping the human population down as well, we must realize many pesticides are lethal. Familiar DDT, lindane, and chlordane, can cause convulsions and death if enough is absorbed. These pesticides can build up through absorption in small doses, and can cause liver and kidney damage, anemia, polyneuritis. Use them, but do keep them locked up, and dispose of empty containers where children can't get at them. When using them avoid breathing spray or fumes, and cover food, food preparation areas, and utensils. If you spill any on clothes or skin, wash thoroughly without delay. Your safety is our concern in every way . . . may we serve you? Kammler Buick-Pontiac, Route 206, Princeton, N. J. across from the airport. 921-2222.

BORDERING A
BIRD SANCTUARY . . .

And facing a rural dead-end street this truly handsome and distinctive split level house reflects the care and improvements its owners have lavished on it. The fine birch paneling in the family room, the built-in shelves and cabinets, the extensive use of travertine vinyl flooring, the completely screened, plastic roofed 12 x 16 foot patio, the workshop addition to the attached 2 car garage; these are only a sampling of the features which distinguish this house.

Rooms include large entrance hall with closets, living room with fireplace, dining room, kitchen, family room, paneled bedroom and bath on first level plus 3 more bedrooms and bath on upper level. Full basement.

The rear garden is separated from the State Bird Sanctuary by a small stream.

This is a house that has been cherished by people of taste who have loved living in it. Its new owners will be fortunate people.

MOVE TO THE TREETOPS: and dwell in a jewel of a modern house set on a heavily wooded hillside in a most attractive Western Section location. Living and dining rooms open through a bank of french windows to a broad deck cantelevered over the valley. A ship-shape kitchen is flooded with sunshine from an overhead skylight. There are three bedrooms and two full baths. Radiant heated polished stone floors in every room. Nearly three acres. $45,000

SAY GOODBYE TO DULLSVILLE: live in a house that for sheer excitement has all the latest models, from cars to colas, beat by a mile. Thirty-six foot living-dining room overlooks fascinating walled garden and opens to dramatic covered terrace. Fabulous, fully equipped island kitchen. Five bedrooms, three full baths. Second living room with adjoining terrace and party kitchen. Three unique fireplaces. An acre and a half of wooded wildgarden wound with flagstone paths . . . Western countryside location. $75,000

NEED A HOUSE RIGHT AWAY, AND $25,000 IS TOPS?: Don't despair for a moment — we have a brand new two story house on an acre not ten minutes from Nassau Street that could save the day. Tall-windowed living room, separate dining room, sunny kitchen, three bedrooms, two full, tiled baths, study or fourth bedroom with adjoining powder room. Big paneled family room with sliding glass doors. Two car attached garage. Congenial neighborhood and, if you can muster up another five hundred dollars, you can move in two weeks from Monday for $25,500

HAVE IT YOUR OWN WAY: New England Colonial in Princeton Township is just reaching the point at which building a house begins to be fun. It's time to choose wallpapers and paint colors, vinyl floors, kitchen cabinets, ceramic tile and all the myriad things that can make this four bedroom house distinctively yours. Small wooded lot on a quiet cul-de-sac $47,500

WE KNOW A BUILDER: who possesses one of the most wonderful acre and a half residential lots in Princeton Township. He'd like us to find a family who will love the rocks and trees and wild flowers and then we'll all sit down together and plan a beautiful house just for them. For example, 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, living room with fireplace, dining room, fully equipped kitchen, laundry, family room, cellar and two car garage for $50,000. That's the least he can do, but the sky's the limit if you need more house.

10 reasons why you should buy a home in Wynnewood at Cranbury:

- Wynnewood at Cranbury is a custom-crafted community of thirty lovely homes, set against a backdrop of fine old trees.
- Cranbury is one of New Jersey's few remaining "small-town" towns . . . a real village atmosphere!
- Cranbury is 6 miles from Princeton, 50 minutes from mid-town Manhattan.
- All lots are a MINIMUM of one full acre.
- Fine school system —including all-new Regional High School.
- Elegance of design is overwhelming!
- Solidity of construction is paramount!
- Every home has the most modern of kitchens with the new Caloric "75" double-oven range and dishwater included.
- All utilities; curbs, walks, etc. are in and paid for!
- Gracious covered portico and full 2-car garages.

There are really hundreds of reasons why you should own a Wynnewood at Cranbury home! See for yourself.

HARD TO FIND?

Do you think it's hard to find a simply lovable 12 year old, Princeton Township, 6 room home containing a living room, full basement, dining room, kitchen, den, 2 bedrooms & ceramic tile bath, with second floor expansion for an additional bedroom and bath, all resting on a peaceful, tree shaded lot for only $24,000. We think it's hard but we found it.

LAWRENCE TOWNSHIP

Any old 3 bedroom ranch under $20,000 is a scarity in this fine Township, but a modern 4 bedroom rancher complete with ceramic tile bath and powder room, 35 foot living room, comfortable dining area and attached garage, serenely resting on an inviting lot with tall ash trees at only $17,500 is quite a treat.

THAT IS BEFORE FAMILY ROOMS

We once knew the graciousness of drawing rooms, large libraries, candlelight and napkin rings. You seldom find in a home the old-fashioned craftsmanship of fine woodwork, slate roof, solid brick construction, lovely, large rooms that invite cordial living and extensive entertaining. Who among you will invest $80,000 in a vanishing way of life.

THREE RED CARDINALS HAVE A WINTER LEASE

in the trees of this lot directly on the sparkling water below the dam of Lake Carnegie. $20,000 is indeed a small price for the contentment and peace the sound of falling water will bring to you after a tension filled day. Buy now and be ready to build this spring.

THE LITTLE EXTRAS COUNT

As the sun gets warmer you'll enjoy lounging on the sun deck off your luxurious master bedroom. The vista is countryside and quaint farm buildings, so put your feet up, relax, and get an edge on your tan while the children play in their part of the house. The large dining room and modern kitchen make your dinner parties easy, and the unusual corner fireplace is just the thing in the cool of the evening. Taxes are low so you can really enjoy life. As the saying goes, "C'mon down" and see this house offered at $38,500.

Be the first owner of a classic center-hall Colonial home in a fast appreciating section of Princeton Township. We're impressed with the possibilities of the good-sized library, pleased with the laundry-mud room and delighted with the wooded privacy of the lot. A woman's touch can turn this fine home into a valuable asset.

NEW COLONIAL . . . with brook and woods in the background, this traditionally designed home has a modern kitchen with dishwasher, double wall-oven, lots of cabinets and spacious breakfast area. Paneled family room with fireplace formal living room, square entry hall, dining room, powder room, laundry & 2-car garage. Upstairs: 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. Large dry basement. Acre of land. Only 8 minutes from town on a country road. $31,900

COUNTRY HOME . . . on lovely, wooded acreage only 12 minutes from Princeton. Paneled living room with stone fireplace and wall-to-wall carpeting. Anderson double-pane casement windows. Aluminum storms and screens. Heating cost only $140 annually. This is a custom-built home in a choice location with 2 bedrooms and 1 large tiled bath. It is ideal for newly-weds, or as a retirement home. There is plenty of land, however, for expansion. (Sole Agent) $36,000

CONTEMPORARY . . . on an acre in the woods. Lovely foyer with indoor garden, huge living room with fireplace, spacious kitchen with every modern convenience, beautiful family room. Guest room and bath, master bedroom and bath, study (or 3rd bedroom). Plans available for adding 4th bedroom. 2-car garage and laundry. Centrally air-conditioned. Outdoors: a vast terrace as long as the house and a swimming pool with heated and filtered water. This is a "House Beautiful" home — and one that you'll really be proud of. (Sole Agent) $69,500

OLD COLONIAL . . . in the beautiful Harbourton area. An 8 room house — living room, dining room, family room (or 5th bedroom) and bath, kitchen and powder room on first floor. Second floor: 4 bedrooms, 1 bath Old pine floors — random width. Four fireplaces. The house has been modernized and redecorated . . . the kitchen is really great. Beautiful old shade trees. Small barn and 3-car garage Less than an acre but more land is available. $29,900

COLONIAL . . . in a wooded section of Princeton, not far from the Shopping Center and the Junior High School, and less than a block from the N. Y. Express bus, this excellent home, built by Pearson, has a large living room with fireplace, dining room, study (or 4th bedroom), and kitchen. Second floor: 3 bedrooms, 2 baths. Large recreation room in basement. Freshly painted indoors, here is an exceptional value. $38,000

BIG FAMILY? here is a large house with 6 bedrooms, 3 baths and powder room, located on 2 wooded acres in beautiful Brookstone. Center hall, large living-dining room, screened porch, a huge kitchen, family room with fireplace, over-sized 2-car garage. The house is sited about one hundred yards back from the street, with a meadow and a tiny brook in front. Post-and-rail fences give the property a rural touch which is quite delightful. (Sole Agent) $74,500

REAL ESTATE

A living room that brings admiring gasps from guests is the highlight of this Township Colonial house. Huge, handsome, high-ceilinged, with decorative cabinet doors and one glass wall to give a view of the grounds, it really is a stunner. So, in a different way, is the panelled family room with a fine fireplace, which also warms the entry eating area at the end of the attractive, efficient kitchen. 3 bedrooms, 2 tiled baths, extra "second-floor uses" complete the interior. Imagination and a green thumb have made a small fortune out of the grounds, which include a pool. Exclusively ours at $55,900

Not big, not small, just comfortable for a family of 3 or 4 is this Township Colonial, which combines a cozy atmosphere, with proportionately good-sized rooms. Living rm., dining rm., kitchen, 3 BR, 1½ baths. With tender loving care the house could be really appealing, as could the grounds, which offer good summertime seclusion. Exclusively ours at $27,500

Newly available N. W. Township building sites. Package of eight 1½ acre lots in a desirable section. Exclusively ours.

18th Century Village House, full of original features — exposed beams, wide floorboards, fireplace crane, stone walls, etc. — combined with modern kitchen, up-to-date wiring, plumbing, etc. 4 BR, 2½ baths, playroom, 3 fireplaces. Trees, barn. More land available. $29,900

Wooded 1½ acre building site in Princeton Twp. Water, sewer, Johnson Park School district. $10,500
